Toll May Reach 400 In India

Mine Blast Kills 200, Traps More

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A tremendous pre-dawn explosion ripped through a coal mine near the eastern Indian town of Dhanbad today, killing 200 miners and killing or trapping perhaps 200 more.

The Ministry of Mines in New Delhi gave the figure of 200 known killed and said the death toll might reach 400.

Kills Men on Surface

Reports from the scene said the force of the explosion was so great that a blast shot up the mine shaft and killed men working on the surface.

One Indian newsman at Dhanbad said an engine room and nearby office on the surface had been devastated by the blast.

The ministry said the explosion occurred at the worst possible moment—at shift changing time, when the number of miners underground was double a normal shift.

Ministry officials said indications were that coal dust was responsible for the explosion.

Coal dust can gather in explosive quantities in mines, even hanging suspended in the air. Under the right conditions, a spark can set off an explosion.

The mine is part of the Bokaro Ramgarh group. It produces about 20,000 tons of coal annually. The coal is used as fuel for the Bokaro steel mill which the Russians built for India after the United States withdrew its offer of aid.

Poor Communications

The mine is in Bihar State, one of India's most underdeveloped. Dhanbad is 225 miles northwest of Calcutta. Its communications with the outside world are poor.

Faces Sentence In Vegetable Oil Fraud Case

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Anthony (Tino) De Angelis, chubby, former butcher, faced sentencing today in connection with one of history's biggest commercial frauds.

De Angelis, 49, built a vegetable-oil refining empire that collapsed 19 months ago with a crash that resounded through banks, brokerage firms and commodity companies on both sides of the Atlantic.

$100 Million Forgery

He had been free on bail since pleading guilty Jan. 8 to three federal counts of circulating forged warehouse receipts. He also admitted conspiring to circulate $100 million worth of fraudulent warehouse receipts over five years.

The maximum possible sentence is 35 years in jail and a $35,000 fine.

The warehouse receipts, normally used in business as certificates of collateral to borrow money, listed huge stocks of vegetable oil that De Angelis did not have. The receipts wound up in bank vaults across the country and overseas. And they served to generate a flood of borrowed money.

Would Supply Nation

When De Angelis' Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp. plunged into bankruptcy on Nov. 19, 1963, it was found the warehouse receipts he used for loans claimed to represent more vegetable oil than the government had listed for the entire nation.

Creditors who flocked to Allied Crude's Bayonne, N.J., plant to claim the food oil on which they had loaned money instead found mostly empty storage tanks or tanks filled with salt water. Of 1.8 billion pounds of commodities supposed to be in the tanks, only 60 million pounds were there.

His Victims

The victims included De Angelis' chief broker, Ira Haupt & Co., a prominent firm that was liquidated by the New York Stock Exchange. The exchange put up $9.5 million to save many of Haupt's 20,000 other customers from loss of cash or securities they had left with the firm.

American Express Co., was hit with $144 million in claims by holders of warehouse receipts. (Continued on Page 20, Col. 7)

Hours Can Decide Fate of Generations

LBJ Calls for 'International Machinery' to Cope With Events

By FRANK CORMIER

WACO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson announced today he is issuing orders to withdraw 1,700 American military men from the Dominican Republic.

But he warned at the same time that in the hemisphere "we can expect more efforts at triumph by terror and conquest through chaos." And he called for "new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events."

In an address prepared for commencement exercises at Baylor University — once headed by his great grandfather George Washington Baines — Johnson said, "When forces of freedom move slowly — whether on political, economic or military fronts — the forces of slavery and subversion move rapidly and decisively."

The President said that one of the lessons learned during the past four weeks in the Dominican Republic is that "it is clear that we need new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events."

"When hours can decide the fate of generations, the moment of decision must become the moment of action," he added.

The 1,700 troops the President said are being withdrawn are in addition to 1,600 he said have been withdrawn over the past two days.

Quick Action Needed

Johnson said the necessity for quick action is one of "the new realities" made apparent by the Dominican situation.

The President has been criticized in some quarters for not advising other hemisphere nations before announcing his decision April 28 to send military forces to the Dominican Republic.

Today, in discussing the Communist threat within the hemisphere, Johnson said:

"We know that when a Communist group seeks to exploit misery, the entire free inter-American system is put in deadly danger. We also know that these dangers can be found today in many of our lands. There is no trouble anywhere these evil forces will not try to turn to their advantage. We can expect more efforts at triumph by terror and conquest through chaos."

The President, speaking of U.S. goals, said, "We want for the peoples of this hemisphere only what they want for themselves — liberty, justice, dignity, a better life."

Johnson said that more than a few agitators were needed "to bring on the tragic and cruel bloodshed in the Dominican Republic."

He said they had "additional (Continued on Page 20, Col. 5)

Just a Warning, Tel Aviv:

Israelis Say Jordan Raid Bases Destroyed

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli paratroopers and infantrymen made three raids into neighboring Jordan Thursday night and claimed destruction of a fuel depot and six buildings used as bases for sabotage raids on Israel.

Charges Children Killed

A Jordanian military spokesman said the Israelis, in blowing up two farmhouses, killed two farmers and two children and injured four other farmers.

The Israelis said they made sure all the buildings were uninhabited before destroying them.

An Israeli communiqué said seven Israeli soldiers were injured, four seriously, when a grenade exploded accidentally as they were returning to Israel.

The Jordanian spokesman said Jordanian forces clashed with two of the Israeli patrols, injuring the commander of one of them. Neither side reported any Jordanian military casualties.

The Jordan government said it reported the attacks to the Arab Joint Supreme Command, the current Cairo meeting of the Arab premiers and the U.N. Security Council. It also called for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission in Jerusalem.

No Retaliation

The spokesman said Jordan would not retaliate for the raids because it had previously told the Arab command in Cairo it would retaliate to an Israeli attack only in accordance with the unified command's plans, not on its own.

He added that the Jordanian government had warned Israel "that Jordan's self restraint is not unlimited."

Gen. Izhak Rabin, the Israeli army chief of staff, told newsmen the raids were a warning action and the raiders had tried to cause "as few casualties as possible."

10th Killed in Clash

A 10th American, a Marine, was killed when Viet Cong guerrillas and U.S. Marines fought a grenade battle before dawn six miles west of the Chu Lai beachhead 52 miles south of Da Nang. It was the first serious attack on the Marine defenses at Chu Lai, where U.S. Navy Seabees are building a jet airstrip.

Ten Marines were wounded, two of them seriously. Six Viet Cong bodies were found and a wounded guerrilla was captured.

The two helicopters collided about 50 to 100 feet up and crashed in an open patch of ground 200 yards from the helicopter area of the Bien Hoa base 15 miles north of Saigon. Both were troop-carrying craft attached to the 118th U.S. Army Helicopter Company.

Eight of the occupants were killed outright and the ninth died three hours later in the base hospital.

Aviators from the company rushed to the scene and pulled the three injured men from the wreckage. Wreckage was strewn over a large area.

Met at Same Place

First reports said one of the helicopters was returning from Saigon with an Army helicopter crewman who had been injured several days ago in the foot by a Viet Cong bullet. He was returning to his unit.

The other ship reportedly was leaving the helicopter pad outside the Vietnamese 3rd Corps headquarters.

"They met at the same place," an eyewitness said.

The helicopters collided about 50 feet up. One burst into flames. The other appeared to break up in the air, then caught fire.

On May 16 a series of explosions smashed through lines of U.S. and Vietnamese bombers at the other side of the Bien Hoa base, killing 26 Americans and injuring more than 100. U.S. officials said that also was an accident, but an investigation is still under way.

Statistics Warn Drivers On Road Safety

The State Department of Motor Vehicles this week released some statistics which should alert weekend motorists to drive carefully and return home safely.

In 1964 a total of 41 persons were killed in 3,554 recorded traffic accidents and 2,334 were injured.

In 1963 a total of 33 persons died in 3,333 traffic mishaps which injured 2,419.

So far this year 14 persons were fatally injured in Ulster County. At this time last year the county toll was only 5. The county is already 9 fatalities ahead of last year.

9 Yanks Killed In Copter Crash Over Viet Base

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Army helicopters collided in the air and crashed in flames today at the Bien Hoa Air Base. Nine Americans were killed and two seriously injured.

Township Data on Tax Maps Could Cost Half Million for Area

A tax or inventory map of Ulster County prepared by a professional consulting firm could cost nearly a half million dollars, Ulster County Planning Board learned at its meeting this week held in the county courthouse.

The inventory map as outlined by John W. Scribano, chairman of the Master Plan Committee was described as a valuable tool for the county and townships and the City of Kingston.

Seen as Great Help

The availability of such a map would prove a tremendous help to both county and town highway departments, utilities, assessors, water departments and many other governmental agencies, it was stressed at the meeting.

The map would include all land within the county, 1,143 square miles (663,327 acres) which has a true value of $654,432,336, nearly two-thirds of a billion dollars.

The major topic of the meeting was discussion on the advisability of preparing such a map for the county.

Scribano, who introduced Frank M. Williams of Aero Service Corp., said "The one thing I don't like about presenting this program is the title, Tax Map. I would much rather refer to it as an inventory map."

Guessing at Values

It was pointed out that the real estate taxes on all county property in 1964-1965 was $6,776,675. Yet the assessors in each town, village and city do not have accurate maps of their areas of operation. They are guessing at values," he said.

Jack W. Schall, project manager for Aero Service Corporation, presented a film showing how tax maps are prepared by coordinating aerial photographs and recorded needs to prepare maps at large enough scale so each individual parcel of land can be identified. Information on ownership is recorded on punch cards. Provision is made for keeping these records current on a daily or weekly basis.

Aero Service has completed a tax map for Chautauque County and is presently engaged in projects for Orange and Sullivan counties. The Orange County survey is to take 30 months, and cost about $300,000 or $5.55 1/2 per acre. It was estimated a survey for Ulster County would take about two years. The experience in other areas shows that the cost of the map is recovered in about two years through discovery of untaxed or undervalued land and improvements.

Dutchess, Orange Hit By Heavy Winds, Rain

Kingston and most of Ulster County escaped Thursday's violent wind and rain storms although brief storms ripped through the Poughkeepsie area, knocking out power lines and causing considerable damage there and in Orange County.

Winds were estimated by the Federal Aviation Agency at 81 miles per hour at the Dutchess County Airport where several planes were damaged.

Tornado warnings were issued during the afternoon, but the worst Ulster got was a brief downpour between 4 and 5 p. m. The tornado threat was over by 8 p. m.

80-Mile Winds

However, a hailstorm coupled with gusts up to 80 miles an hour struck the Poughkeepsie area about 3:15 p. m., and was followed by a thundershower about 5 p. m. when winds were clocked up to 50 miles an hour.

Southern Dutchess and Orange County were hit the worst.

Several minor accidents were reported in the Fishkill area and uprooted trees and downed power lines blocked traffic on Route 82 for about three hours. Fallen trees also backed up traffic for about two miles on Rt. 9 near Wappingers Falls.

Lightning struck the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge and a bolt knocked out equipment in a bridge toll booth. No one was injured.

Extra Crews Called

Central-Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. emergency crews from Kingston and Catskill were brought into Dutchess County when the storms knocked out service to more than 1,400 customers. About half of Beacon's 20,000 residents were without power, including most of the business district. Power was restored during the afternoon and evening.

Middletown and Newburgh in Orange County were hit with several lightning strikes and fire fighters were summoned to several alarms. About a half inch of rain fell in less than a half hour in that area.

In Ulster County, lightning struck a vacant cabin in a bungalow colony at Accord. No major damage was reported. State Police at Leeds substation reported a red traffic light remained on the red signal throughout the night at Cementon.

There was a brief heavy downpour accompanied by lightning and thunder in Sullivan County.

Practice Flight Is Postponed Gemini Decision Due by Sunday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

— A bad battery cell today forced postponement of a practice flight for next week's orbital mission by astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White. Officials said there was a possibility the trouble could delay the June 3 launching.

Mission director Christopher C. Kraft Jr., said a decision whether to postpone the astronauts' trip would be made late Saturday or Sunday after the battery had been changed and several evaluation tests had been made.

The battery problem turned up today shortly after McDivitt and White began running through a rehearsal for their four-day orbital trip.

The battery is located in an equipment section attached to the base of the Gemini 4 spacecraft. It is one of four similar batteries which provide power to vehicle systems during flight.

Kraft said: "We could fly the entire Gemini 4 mission despite the loss of one battery cell. But we would rather change the battery."

To do this, the spacecraft will have to be lifted a few feet above the Titan 2 rocket to which it has been mated for several weeks.

May Replace It Tonight

"This will require disconnecting several bolts and electrical connections," Kraft said that it was hoped that the battery could be replaced tonight and the simulated flight rescheduled Saturday.

"Then," he said, "we will re-evaluate the remaining schedule time for the spacecraft, the launch vehicle, the Mission Control Center in Houston and the world network and support requirements."

"Subsequent to the accomplishment of these tests, we will determine if we can meet the present schedule June 3 date or whether some additional time may be needed."

Officials said there is some extra time in the programming (Continued on Page 8, Col. 3)

464,000 American Families Are Out Of Poverty Class

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Approximately 464,000 American families took a giant step last year. Their income edged over the $3,000 mark — and out of what the administration defines as the "poverty bracket."

At the happier end of the scale, a Census Bureau report today also showed, the number of families with incomes of $10,000 or more increased by 1.4 million.

And the median — middle — income increased too from $6,249 to $6,563. That's a 5-per cent jump from 1963 and 57-per cent from 1954. Prices also rose, though, so the increase in purchasing power was only 4 per cent.

The median income is the exact middle income for the 47.8 million American families. That is, half of them are below that level and half above.

Some 17.6 per cent of American families, or 8.4 million, had incomes below $3,000 compared to 18.5 per cent in 1963. Almost 32 per cent had incomes below $3,000 in 1954.

Some 10,800,000 families had incomes of $10,000 or more in 1964. This represented 22 per cent compared to 20 per cent in 1963 and less than 6 per cent in 1954.

More than one out of every 20 families had incomes of at least $15,000 compared to one out of 100 in 1954.

The median income of Negro families was $5,814 compared to $7,720 for whites. Thirty-seven per cent of Negro families were below the poverty line while 15.4 per cent of white families were in that category. Only 8.3 per cent of Negro families had incomes above $10,000.

Local Woman 'Just Plain S-A Soldier' Now

Failing Voice No Handicap To Work of Mrs. Halstead

Mrs. Lillian Purvis Halstead of 27 Boulder Avenue, entered the Salvation Army 54 years ago.

Forced to relinquish an officers commissions because of a failing voice, she chose to remain in the Army as a plain "soldier" — and as such spent the rest of her life helping others.

Honored for Service

Recognition for her dedicated service was observed Wednesday by some 80 persons, mostly friends she has made over the years, in a program in the Salvation Army rooms, 94 North Front Street.

The occasion was also marked by a reunion between Mrs. Halstead and Mrs. Marie Bond of Hoboken, N. J., another former SA Corps officer with whom she was stationed years ago. They had not seen each other for more than 45 years.

Mrs. Halstead entered the SA School for Officers Training and was commissioned a lieutenant in 1915. She served two years as an officer and rose to the rank of captain before she was forced to relinquish her position because of a failing voice. However, she settled in Kingston and continued her work of Bible teaching at the local Salvation Army citadel.

She serves in that capacity as a chaplain in the Ladies Home League, but her work is not limited to that capacity.

Work Is Legend

In fact, her work in the Kingston area over the year has become legendary. She is frequently seen as a visitor in all of the area's nursing homes, hospitals and correctional institutions and is consistently looking for ways to help others. Besides raising six children of her own, she opened her home to six more homeless children—three boys and three girls—who are now adults. She has similarly offered the shelter and friendship of her home and herself to countless others for periods from a few days to a few weeks. Friends also confide how she cared for the sick and in one instance offered her home to a person to ease his last hours on earth.

Elderly folk come to her and receive help and even today she has offered her home to another. Mrs. Halstead has overcome whatever handicap she may have to attain high rating as a Bible teacher and conducts her class at 10 a. m. every Sunday at the Salvation Army. She will be 70 years old this fall.

The testimonial program included the reading of telegrams from former officers and associates, including Lt. Jean Sickles, now in Buffalo. Refreshments were served. The program concluded with the singing of the Doxology.

Gives Schools Strong Hand on Societies

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A bill to "strengthen the hand" of local school districts that wish to ban fraternities, sororities and other secret societies in public schools has been approved in the Senate and sent to the Assembly.

The bill, sponsored by Max Berking, D-Westchester, drew little opposition in being passed 43-2 Thursday.

Berking acknowledged that school boards presently have authority to ban the unofficial organizations, but he said they have been "too timorous to use it."

Under the bill, a school board could act against a secret society that was disrupting the academic process of a school or was interfering with the academic progress of any student.

SAFE DRIVING GOAL—Members of Loyal Order of Moose, Lodge 970, announced plans today for long range educational safety program to cut down mounting traffic deaths which last year reached total of more than 38,000 and resulted in an estimated $8 billion economic loss. Local lodge board of directors, in cooperation with Police Chief Robert F. Murphy and Lt. Lemuel Howard of Kingston Police Department, plan to help in teaching of safe driving principles to youngsters four to 14. Picture above shows alert bicyclist giving proper hand signal to indicate his intention, while photo below shows what can result if motorist fails to exercise alert driving habits at all times. Richard Peters and Raymond Davis, Moose lodge officers and co-chairmen of safe driving program, said "Kick Off Day" in lodge safety drive will be at 10 a. m. Saturday, June 5 at lodge premises, 82 Prince Street. Program will include showing of a film and a brief lecture. Bicycles will be inspected and upon successful completion of inspection, bike owners will be given sticker for rear fender of bike. Davis urges all bike owners and their parents to be present and participate in the program. (Police Department Photos)

CR Move to Oust School Head Fails

CHICAGO (AP) — Efforts by civil rights groups to force the ouster of Dr. Benjamin C. Willis as superintendent of Chicago's public schools have ended in failure.

The Board of Education voted 7-4 Thursday to rehire him until his 65th birthday — on Dec. 23, 1966.

The board — under pressure from groups both favoring and opposing Willis — made its decision during a five-hour closed meeting. Willis was present for the final two hours. He will continue to receive $48,500 a year under the contract, effective Sept. 1.

There had been published reports that the board had decided informally not to renew Willis' contract. Civil rights groups had accused him of failing to foster school integration.

Community Fetes French Teeners For Grave Care

OYSTER BAY, N.Y. (AP) — Year after year, Pierre Corret, 15, and his sister, Odile, 14, had taken care of the grave in France of President Theodore Roosevelt's son Quentin, who was killed in action during World War I.

Quentin Roosevelt was killed near Coulouges-en-Tardenois, where the Correts lived until a few years ago. Since they were young children and until they moved to Soissons-Aisne, Pierre and Odile had kept the grave free of weeds and full of flowers.

They did it, they said, because they wanted to show their appreciation for all that American troops had done for France in two world wars.

This Long Island community, where Theodore Roosevelt once resided, wanted to show its appreciation to Pierre and Odile. So, the community raised $1,600 for expenses and brought the French teen-agers here for a three-month visit.

They arrived by plane Wednesday and will stay alternately with three families, including that of Principal Richard Odell of Oyster Bay High School. Odile is currently staying with the Odells, who have two children, Dorothy, 17, and Richard, 12.

Memorial Day Rite

The color guard of the Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion will participate in Memorial Day services at Wiltwyck School, Esopus, 8 a. m. Monday. It was also announced that in the event of inclement weather, the memorial services to be held in the Riverview Cemetery will be held in the Town Hall.

pairs of youngsters I've ever come across," Odell said today of his visitors. "They both have a terrific sense of humor."

One of their big thrills came Wednesday night when they got their first taste of an American hot dog at a barbecue at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jones, where Odile will stay later.

A big Memorial Day weekend is in store for Pierre and Odile. Sunday they will place a wreath on the original headstone of Quentin Roosevelt's grave. The grave has been moved to a large military cemetery in France, but the headstone was brought to his father's home, now a national shrine at Sagamore Hill.

On Monday, Pierre and Odile will be the guests of honor at Oyster Bay's Memorial Day parade.

Kiwanis Launches Annual Rose Sale

The annual sale of roses by the Kingston Kiwanis Club began Thursday for a four-week period, according to an announcement released today by Harold E. Keator, vice-president of the club and chairman of the 1965 rose campaign.

Keator said that members of the Kiwanis Club would be selling roses by the dozen for the next four weeks, with the annual rose day to be September 18. On this day the roses purchased by citizens of the area will be delivered by members of the Kiwanis Club or by mail if the roses are scheduled for persons outside of the immediate area.

The annual sale of roses is sponsored each year by the local Kiwanis Club for the purpose of obtaining funds to further the work of the Boys and Girls Committee. In the past years, according to Keator, hundreds of dozens of roses have been sold with a profit of over a thousand dollars to the Kiwanis Club and its work for youth of the community.

Keator said that from each dozen roses sold, the Kiwanis Club receives half of the money, and he expressed the hope that local citizens would accept the 1965 rose sale in the spirit "that for each dozen roses purchased some boys and girls in the community would be better served by the Kiwanis Club."

Go Ahead... Go Cadillac!

Before you buy any car at any price, consider a Cadillac first of all.

New or previously owned, a Cadillac is the one way to be sure your investment will buy the most and last the longest.

Whatever you have budgeted for your next car, your Cadillac dealer has a Cadillac to fit your plans. Naturally, if your choice were unrestricted, you would prefer a new 1965 Cadillac like the Sedan de Ville in front. Next best would be a late-model, previously-owned Cadillac such as the black 1963 Sedan de Ville, above. A well-maintained, one-owner used Cadillac is actually the only real rival of a new Cadillac. Because of the popularity of the 1965 model, your authorized dealer is the one logical place to go for the best selection of fine used Cadillacs.

ADAPTING TO EVER-BROADER AUTOMATION

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 28 — Every day more employers and workers have to learn to adapt to automation as it stretches out ever more powerfully throughout our industrial and service companies. There is no longer evident the earlier fear that automation means massive unemployment, and possibly depression. But there is now the spreading realization that changes brought about by automation must be intelligently and mutually faced by both management and labor.

Management and Worker Responsibilities

To begin with, employers and employees must recognize that efficient electronic machines are still in their relatively early stages, and that much greater incursions of these mechanical miracles are to be seen. Management must resort to the automated machinery best suited to its needs if it is to meet its rising competition. Employers—even though they may be small or in outlying areas—will eventually be left far behind if they ignore the cost cutting and time saving which are made possible by automation.

Of great importance also is the absolute necessity of winning worker support for such innovations,—and that can best be done well in advance. Many working men and women quite naturally fear change, and rumors that new machines are going to be installed often upset established company staffs. Best method of smoothing the path is to inform workers, in the greatest possible detail, of any potential efficiency moves well before formal public announcement is to be made. Every effort should be expended to make relocation, retraining, and possible replacement issues mutually acceptable.

Company Attitude Can Bypass Trouble

Unless employees are made part and parcel of the planning process, they are bound to worry about unexpected layoffs and their production efforts will be hurt. Managements will find it well worth while to keep in close contact with their staff members in person, by letter, and via meetings which furnish supervisory explanation. The results of contemplated technological changes should be specified, particularly as to betterment in working conditions, competitive position, wages, and long-term employment stability. Union-organized firms should invite labor officials to work along with company planners, personnel executives, and the workers themselves during change-over preparations, to soften all possible dislocations.

Smoothest transition can be made if regular employees can be readied for the new skilled jobs that are opening up, rather than having newcomers brought in. Thus far in automation, many employers have been amazed at the capabilities and adaptability of personnel who had been working only one set job. Interested employees can often learn brand-new skills with surprisingly little delay or difficulty.

If Layoffs Are Necessary

Where actual layoffs are essential, wise employers will do everything possible to secure other jobs in the area for their men and women. Help can frequently be obtained from state and local employment services, business development groups, associates in similar lines of work, and new establishments in the territory. Also, the U. S. Employment Service is able to give tests that will reveal which employees are qualified for available openings in the vicinity. Those firms with substantial number of unusable workers can ask for government training programs as provided by the Manpower Development and Training Act.

Displaced employees should not be angry or discouraged by inevitable automation changes, but should take advantage of the many opportunities available for retraining and/or relocation. Those who have a healthy regard for progress and for the widening prosperity that technological advances can bring will not long be held back by necessary readjustments. Experience with automation thus far has proved that the transition usually can be made with far less economic unsettlement than was earlier thought possible.

Acting Like Fishing

Marvin Says Keep Cool if Goal Is A Real Whopper

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The

acting business is like fishing. If you're really desperate to land that big catch, you'll never make it. But if you play it cool, you might come up with a whopper."

The allusion came quite naturally to Lee Marvin, who would rather fish than act — almost. He was poised to leave for a deep-sea tournament in Mexico and he exulted over finding a rare, imported fishhook quite by accident in a hardware store. You'd have thought he had won an Oscar.

May Be Front Runner

Come to think of it, he might do just that. The talk around town is that Marvin will be a front-runner for the Oscar next year because of his rip-snorting, double-barreled role in "Cat Ballou."

Not only that, the raw-boned, tuba-voiced actor comes on like a tropical hurricane in "Ship of Fools," according to preview reports. It might even turn into a Marvin vs. Marvin race in the coming Oscar derby.

All this somewhat amazes Marvin, who isn't exactly a deb star.

"I've been acting for 18 years and I've been in pictures for 15," he remarked. "I waited a long time for this to happen — and now I get two in a row! Boy, it feels good!"

Some Lean Years

Marvin admitted there were many years when he despaired of ever hitting the heights. Son of a New York advertising executive, Lee didn't think much about acting until after his wartime service in the Marines. He got interested in a little theater in Woodstock, N. Y., studied the American Theater Wing under the GI bill and apprenticed in off-Broadway and television.

His first film was "You're in the Navy Now" with Gary Cooper, and he quickly became a serviceable young character actor. No pretty boy, he couldn't rise above his status.

How to Stand Out

He saw an out in a television series, "M Squad." His reasoning: "Everybody knew me, but nobody knew my name. Every young actor should do a TV series to establish himself. That's the only way you can stand out from the crowd."

His labors for "M Squad" have brought him a half-million dollars. That gave him the independence to play it cool and wait for that big catch. Lee was 40 before it arrived, but the wait was worth it.

Producers are already looking at him through different eyes. Columbia has signed him to four pictures in five years at more than double his previous salary.

NO DEMAND FOR DROP-OUTS

The job outlook for those who are graduating for college and the high rate of unemployment due to lack of qualification should be brought to the attention of high school students.

Students in our area high schools and especially those in the graduation class should give this matter of education and training serious thought.

Recognizing the importance of education and training in today's labor market, the State of New York National Bank for the second year has offered a scholarship to the student at the Ulster County Community College as an inducement to young people to continue their education at the college level.

The Kingston Jewish Community Center Director Robert A. Kurland has been interviewing students and potential students of the local college in an effort to aid them in finding employment under the Economic Opportunities Act that will assist them in financing their college education.

Unemployment remains at high levels. Yet, in many fields, there is a serious shortage of workers. This seeming paradox is easily explained. Large numbers of our young people aren't qualified.

A report by the U. S. Department of Labor says the job outlook for those who are graduating from college this June is "generally excellent." The report lists 70 occupations in which demand is greatest. In only four of these groups is a high school education not demanded. Additional training after high school is required in the largest number. The next largest calls for a college degree or equivalent, plus further education or training.

Graduates in the scientific and technical field are in the highest demand.

There are excellent prospects in both government and private industry for engineers. Close behind them is the demand for mathematicians, chemists and physicists. Those holding degrees in business administration and the liberal arts are being sought by private industry. There are good prospects for those who have specialized in agriculture and forestry.

The moral is plain enough. There is small room in this technological economy for the untrained, the ill-trained or the little educated.

The carefully detailed study by the Labor Department did not mention any demand for high school drop-outs.

DEFENDERS OF LIBERTY

Memorial Day was originated a century ago by a group of Southern women who decorated both Union and Confederate graves to honor the men fallen in battle. It has long since become a nationwide occasion for remembrance of those who have served in the armed forces in time of war, and especially for those who died in combat.

Memorial Day also has become both less than that and more than that. Less because, to some extent, the high seriousness of this holiday has degenerated; for many, the day is no more than a time for leisure and gaiety. But in a sense it is more, too, than a commemoration of those who took part in the nation's military defense. By extension, it has become a time for remembering all who have passed this way and gone to whatever awaits us when we die.

But honor must be done in greatest measure to those who, in one way or another, gave their lives for the cause of freedom. Some have done this on distant battlefields, some on the home front. The memorial rite of those Southern women at the time of the Civil War reminds one in particular of the civil rights struggle in our day. Some have given their lives in this tumultuous struggle. They, too, deserve high tribute as America pays its respects to all who have sought to extend and strengthen liberty.

Many a sensitive American must have wept inwardly again when the British dedicated their John F. Kennedy memorial at Runnymede. For here was another reminder of the profound and apparently meaningless tragedy that so overwhelmed

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
WHO ENGINEERED THE BIG SWITCH?

The American college students—or at least the fringe percentage of the undergraduates who envy their demonstration-happy opposite numbers in the banana republic universities of the Caribbean area—might well consider the proposition that they have been had. And American Negroes might go along with the students in doing their share of meditation on recent history.

In a brilliantly speculative column, datelined Washington, Mr. Frank Conniff remarked the other day on the sudden switch of the campus demonstrators, both hard-case and amateur, from the civil rights movement to the get-out-of-Vietnam-and-Santo-Domingo movement. It was his guess that the switch was one of fashion: carrying banners for the peace-at-any-price cause had become the "hip" or the "swinging" thing to do. Since suggestibility, or contagion, certainly explains a lot about the spread of intellectual fashions, Mr. Conniff is obviously on the beam in his surmise. But the theory of suggestibility implies that there is someone around to do the suggesting. The question is, who were the Typhoid Marys that set the civil right marchers off on the entirely different tack of trying to discredit President Lyndon Johnson's actions in the Vietnamese and Dominican crises?

Anyone who tries to answer this question will surely risk being ripped up the back as a McCarthyite. But the coincidence of Communist needs (both those of the Soviet and Maoist variety) for action on Vietnam and Santo Domingo and the switch in internal American campus protests from civil rights to international "peace" is a glaring one. The Communists are in unforced trouble in Southeast Asia and in the Dominican Republic precisely because Lyndon Johnson's policies have been effective in both places. Hence it is entirely logical that their phony interest in the American Negro's cause inside the United States should suddenly be consigned to a secondary position while they pull out all the stops to encourage "teach-ins" and marches and letter-writing marathons and $5,000-per-page advertisements in big newspapers to the end of destroying President Lyndon Johnson's conviction that he is on the right path.

The order to go all-out on the "anti-imperialist" demonstration front was issued by the Kremlin on March 3 in Moscow in the form of one of those low-key bundles of clichés that arouse no one at first save the initiated. "The representatives of Communist and workers' parties," so the order read, "call the attention of all the Progressive and peace-loving forces . . . to the dangerous situation created by the expansion of military intervention by the U. S. imperialists in South Vietnam and by the acts of aggression against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam. We call on all . . . to promote unity of action and solidarity in the active struggle against imperialist aggression."

Since this order went out, there has been a marked change in the ratio of civil rights articles and "anti-imperialist" articles in the local American Communist press. At least eighty per cent of the space goes to foreign affairs matters today. Not so long ago the civil rights movement was getting most of the space.

The Negro civil rights leaders who have fallen for the Leftist contention that the South Vietnamese people and citizens of the Dominican Republic don't need protection in their own hopes for civil rights against Communists should reconsider their position. Surely Martin Luther King wasn't helping his own cause when, in Boston, he remarked, apropos of the supposed nuclear counter—but not when there's Strontium 90 in it. The Rev. King might reflect that if any Strontium 90 has been released into the upper atmosphere in recent months, it could only have come from the Red Chinese and Soviet nuclear explosions.

As for the student protesters on Vietnam, this columnist is quite willing to believe in the innocence of at least ninety-nine per cent of them. But the rank-and-file members of all those organizations of the "new Left" might legitimately begin to look for Communist Typhoid Marys in their midst. The theory of fashion demands a fashion-maker, and you can't have hypnosis without a hypnotizer. (Copyright, 1965, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Vitamin Uses Not Always Linked With Deficiencies

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Although the chief use of vitamins is in the treatment of vitamin deficiencies, they may have other uses. I have already referred to the use of niacin in large doses to bring down a high blood cholesterol level.

Tocopherol (vitamin E) belongs in this category. It has long been known that animals deprived of this vitamin cannot reproduce and that the vitamin is essential for healthy red blood cells. It is found in vegetable oils, wheat germ, whole grain cereals and lettuce. Because it is required for healthy red blood cells, no deficiency has been reported in human beings with the exception of infants (mostly premature) whose red blood cells are found to be abnormal.

No definite daily requirement of vitamin E can be established for adults because it depends on the amount of polyunsaturated fat in the diet. The greater the amount of such fat in the diet the lower the vitamin E level in the blood unless foods rich in vitamin E are taken to offset the depleting effects of the fat.

When the vitamin E reserves of the body fall below a certain level the red blood cells wear out at an increased rate. Vitamin E appears to be of benefit in children who eat a protein-poor diet and in those with cystic fibrosis—a hereditary disease of the sweat glands, pancreas and mucous-forming glands.

The tendency in adults to suffer following surgery from abnormal clotting in the veins can be largely prevented by getting out of bed within a day or two of the operation but when, for any reason, this cannot be done vitamin E combined with calcium gluconate will prevent this complication. In some women hot flashes persist long after the menopause. If these are not controlled by taking female hormones, vitamin E may be of benefit. Thus the vitamin is found to have some uses not definitely connected with a vitamin E deficiency.

Because the treatment of diabetes is complex and because the victim must assume most of the responsibility for his treatment, the more he learns about his disease the better. Although excellent manuals have been published for the guidance of diabetics, they have not been able to keep up with the recent advances in the treatment of this disease.

To aid in the solution of this problem a new quarterly journal for diabetics and their families is being published and is already going to over 30,000 persons. Inquiries should be sent to "The Diabetic," 510 Plymouth Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn. 55411.

us only a year and a half ago. We, and many others throughout the civilized world, were caught up once more in reflection of this brutal severance of a life that might have contributed so richly to the cause of human dignity and freedom.

Balanced View

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — With all the bungling and confusion that has marked events in the Dominican Republic, it seems plain enough that President Johnson would make the same basic decision to move in if he had it all to do over again.

The evidence that a Communist take-over threatened was credible enough to satisfy some very cool heads in Washington.

It was thoroughly convincing to Latin diplomats in Santo Domingo and elsewhere. Though they are now saying some very harsh things about U. S. diplomacy, their private response then was:

"At last you Americans are being decisive!"

The Latin Americans obviously don't hold to that view any more. Our efforts strike some of them as painfully amateurish.

A SEASONED ASSOCIATE of the President thinks a fundamental difficulty is that the administration saw the problem too simply at the outset. It was thought we could thwart the Reds, wave a wand over a quickly formed provisional government, and get out.

The situation, this man emphasizes, probably was never as we saw it. We were unprepared for its complexities, and we are now badly enmeshed in them.

Paramount on the list is the terrible dearth of suitable government talent. The decades of the dictator Trujillo bequeathed the country nothing better than a cluster of willowy, opportunistic mediocrities.

It is now being charged that the Johnson administration stumbled badly in giving the nod originally to Gen. Antonio Imbert Barreras as prospective leader of a provisional government.

THE PRESIDENT'S MISSION to Santo Domingo, led by McGeorge Bundy, is accepted as admission of error, since its purpose was to find a leader more tractable than Imbert. This enterprise seems only to compound the impression of serious misjudgment.

The impression is perhaps not wholly fair. There is no evidence that talent scouts for the OAS, the United Nations or anybody else would have had much better luck. The pressure of crisis is no help to such a quest.

We shall need a stroke of high good fortune to get out of the mess. Even if we get it, we may not shake off the image of ineptitude which clings to our Dominican endeavors.

THE REALLY TOUGH QUESTION is why we were not better prepared for the realities.

The revolt of April 24 was not a surprise to us. The CIA had given the administration warning of it more than 10 days earlier. That period, plus the four additional days before we sent in the Marines, allowed us a chance for a hard look at the Dominican prospect.

Skeptics who wonder how well that time was used may not be easy to answer. The talent hunt we eventually undertook under extreme pressure of time might have benefited from harder preliminary digging. This is not to minimize the difficulties of the search.

With his nose for trouble, the President was unsettled from the start over the Dominican affair. The danger was plain that the end might be far less tidy than the beginning.

He went ahead because he felt he had to, as he would again in similar circumstances. But his nose was accurate. Trouble has dropped upon him.

The note of promise is that, by the word of his friends, he is worrying almost literally around the clock about getting out of it.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

In the great cities, life becomes increasingly dangerous for women. When the victim is helpless — alone in an apartment, along a deserted street, in an elevator or a parking lot—the hoodlum becomes courageous. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, speaking of sex-crimes, said: "They worry everyone with decency. They worry you. And they certainly worry me."

Two men, Gene Accas and John H. Eckstein, have written a slim book about the subject. It is called "How to Protect Yourself." I think that women who live alone, or in pairs, should buy it. Some of the rules seem overly protective, but each one, if carefully observed, can save lives.

One is not to list your name in a phone book as "Miss" or "Mrs." If your name is Jane Ruth Smith, you should be listed as Smith, J. R. Your friends will find it without the sex denominator in front of it. If you are subject to a lot of so-called "wrong number" calls, report the matter to the police.

When in the bedroom, never stage a peep-show, even accidentally. Draw the blind completely. A Peeping Tom is a potential maniac who lacks nerve. Don't encourage him. An attacker can use any unlocked window, whether it is adjoining a drain spout or in a cellar. There is a turn-screw lock which can be used on any window, and will give you ventilation while maintaining the window in a fixed position.

In an automobile, keep all the windows locked and all windows up except the one you use for ventilation. That should be opened a few inches. Never give a ride to a hitchhiker — even if he is in uniform — and never accept one. When you must stop for a light, leave yourself maneuvering room. Remain at least ten feet behind the car in front.

If your car stalls on a highway, get out, raise the hood and tie a cloth to the radio antennae. This is a distress signal. Get back in quickly, lock all doors, and wait for a police car.

When walking, never take a short cut. Stick to well-lighted streets wherever possible. On dark streets, walk out in the street itself. If you feel that someone is following you, and changing from one side of the street to the other doesn't shake him, stop in any store, or well-lighted home and ask for police assistance.

In cocktail lounges, be aware of the look-over type of man. All he is waiting for is a second glance from you. Always say no when a waiter says: "The gentleman in the corner would like to buy you a drink." When you leave a tavern, bowling alley, or other public place, look back to see if you are being followed. If so, do not continue to a parking lot. Go back.

In an apartment house, try not to use a self-service elevator if a strange man is also waiting for it. Also do not use it if you want to go up, and the indicator light shows that it is headed for the basement. Never take your laundry to a deserted cellar.

In urban areas, women should carry weapons, even though most weapons are against the law. A good hatpin is not against the law. Strike upward with it, never downward. A long nailfile. Get one long enough to give you a good grip. Never carry a knife or gun or ice pick. They're illegal.

An Amendment on Right Of States to Run Schools

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Amendments to the Constitution are usually hard to get started and adopted nowadays, but there is one which might receive popular support instantaneously. It has to do with the rights of the states to control their own education processes.

Although the Federal government denies that it has any intention of dictating what is taught in the public schools or of interfering with local communities in their mapping out of school districts, it is becoming evident every day that the centralized government in Washington is going to take over more and more of the educational process by using its power over the distribution of Federal tax money.

Why, for instance, should a state from which a billion dollars in Federal taxes is collected and to which is allocated $100 million for aid to its schools suddenly be denied such aid because a Federal bureaucracy decides that the state is not complying with regulations promulgated from Washington?

The money collected in Federal taxes in a state far exceeds, of course, the allotment made to that state for education. What is being returned to the states is their own taxpayers' money. But it is being used in large part to require compliance by the states through what is being called "legalized blackmail."

Congress in 1964 passed a law which condemned racial discrimination. The text of the provision follows:

"No person in the United States shall, on the grounds of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance."

Any state which uses its Federal funds to benefit schools that are predominantly Negro on the same basis as it furnishes funds to schools that are predominantly white would appear to be complying with the law as written by Congress. But the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has announced through the U. S. Office of Education, that its own desegregation formulas must be applied. This is an extension of the words of the Statute, especially since Congress did not specify that schools must be desegregated. This up to now has been handled by the courts.

Many states have not intentionally segregated their schools but circumstances of residence and other factors have made it difficult to conform to any formula set up in Washington or demanded by pressure groups. This is true of Northern states as well as Southern states. Existing law provides for judicial review in each instance, but this today is a hazardous course to follow because already the Supreme Court has ruled that sooner or later schools must be desegregated.

Court orders, of course, have been litigated extensively, but the Supreme Court has taken upon itself the duty of enforcing the desegregation policy. Now that the executive branch of the government has joined in the battle and has decided to withhold funds as a method of punishment, a Constitutional amendment would appear to be the most effective recourse available to protect the states from invasions of their authority to handle their own educational processes.

Certainly when the 11 states of the South pay a total of nearly $16 billion in taxes and the Federal government decides for some arbitrary reason to withhold a portion of the funds allocated to them—especially when the reason is not at all related to the educational process itself—then the citizens of these states have a grievance. The following table lists what was collected in taxes in 1964 in those states and what they will get back in the next fiscal year for education if they comply with Federal commands:

STATE	U. S. Taxes U. S. Funds Collected for Education State, 1964 Next Fiscal Year
Alabama	$ 726,000,000 63,450,000

Fish, Game Group Signs Pact To Purchase Clubhouse Site

Ownership of a clubhouse and grounds came one step closer for Saugerties Fish and Game Club this week when the building committee made a tentative agreement for a suitable site of undetermined acreage off the Houtman Road in Pine Grove.

The property owned by Jan Williams of Pine Grove has a 100 frontage on Houtman Road and runs about 700 feet deep including two parts of a stream.

The membership at a meeting this week authorized full investigation of the site and a down payment to hold the property until a survey can be made and clear title guaranteed.

The building committee headed by Victor Wood, chairman and Cal Hackett, includes William R. Brown, Roy Longendyke, Donald Munro, Vincent Berzal, Arthur Sperl, Robert Sperl and Ben Tobiasen.

Members of the club inspected the site last week and again prior to the meeting at Saugerties Sales and Service showrooms. The members also inspected the 14-acre site at Centerville donated to the club by Percy Mower.

It was brought out at the meeting that the big disadvantage of the Mower site was the great distance from the main highway which would entail installation of utility poles and electric lines. The length of the road to the proposed clubhouse site also was a major drawback. Rebuilding of the road and snowplowing in the winter were seen as costly to the club.

The site at Pine Grove in on Houtman Road with utility lines available. A short road could be built to the clubhouse site and parking area proposed in preliminary plans. The rear portion of the tract could support two trap shooting ranges. The agreement in discussion would provide a right-of-way from the north to the site.

Carlton B. King reported on the anti-gun legislation under discussion in congressional committee. He again urged all members to write or wire their congressmen and senators regarding S. 1592.

Robert Sperl, chairman of the trap shooting committee reported that the club had received a dog training area permit.

It was also reported that 1,100 trout had been stocked in area streams under the cooperative plan including the Saugerties club, Ridge Runners, High Woods Sportsmen and Ruby Rod and Gun Club. Each club donated $125 each for the project.

Hackett reported he had received a letter from the State Conservation Department in answer to his request for a permit to transplant game fish from the Hudson into the Upper Esopus Creek. The department letter said such a program was undesirable because a shocking program by the department showed that there were many good game fish in the Upper Esopus and adding more would not improve fishing.

The club recently discussed a program whereby commercial fishermen would be contacted and asked to save game fish caught in netting on the Hudson. These would be transplanted into the Upper Esopus. The plan was aimed at improving the pickering fishing in the Upper Esopus.

Hackett was again asked to write to the Conservation Department and ask for a permit. Berzal said he had talked with several commercial fishermen and they advised that they would cooperate if the club could secure the permit.

President Robert Schiavone was in charge of the meeting.

Completes Tour Of Active Duty At AF Academy

FRANCIS J. DUNN

A Saugerties resident, Lt. Col. Francis J. Dunn, 6 Redwood Road, Barclay Heights, has just completed a tour of active duty at the United States Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo.

An Air Force Academy liaison officer for this area, Colonel Dunn has been a reserve officer for 22 years. He was commissioned in 1943 after completing aviation cadet training and served during World War II in the North African and European theatres as a group navigator and operations officer.

Presently employed in the Litigation Bureau of the Attorney General's Office in Albany, Colonel Dunn is a graduate of Fordham University Law School, Pan-American Airlines Navigation School, University of Miami, Fla., and the U. S. Army Special Warfare School, Ft. Bragg, N. C. in addition to attending several Air Force staff schools.

He is a former post and county commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and a member of Blanchard Post, American Legion and Fordham Club of New York.

While at the Academy he spent a day with Cadet Third-Classman Robert Barnum of Kerhonkson and Cadet Fourth-Classman Scott Bohner of Kinderhook.

Local Girl Scout Group Schedules Membership Meet

A meeting of all prospective Senior Girl Scouts and their mothers will be held Wednesday 7:30 p. m. in Saugerties Savings Bank. All girls who will be 15 by Sept. 1 or in the 10th Grade are welcome to attend whether or not they have previously been in scouting.

On Tuesday, June 8, there will be a meeting of the Service Team and Cadette leaders at the home of Mrs. Harry Hoffman at 8:30 p. m.

At the last Neighborhood meeting, leaders submitted lists of their troop's activities, projects and intertroop events. They are as follows:

Brownie Troop 109 and Jr. Troop 170 made Easter favors for St. Catherine's Infant Home at a joint meeting. Troop 109 is planning a cookout.

Junior Troop 5 and Brownie Troop 53 are spending the weekend of June 18-20 at Camp Wendy. Troop 5 is also planning a trip to the World's Fair on June 26. Troop 53 has had a backyard cookout and nature trail.

Junior Troop 155 made Easter baskets for Dale's Sanitarium and the Russell Finger Home.

Junior Troop 23 and Brownie Troop 45 each donated a tree to the Mt. Marion School. Troop 23 is planning to visit Troop 138 Boy Scout Camp where they will receive instructions in camp skills. Troop 23 taught the Brownies games at a joint meeting to fulfill requirements of the World-Wide Games Badge.

Cadette Troop 99 participated in an intertroop skating party at the Purling Rink with Troops 104 and 39. Members of the troop take charge of the nursery school at Blue Mountain Reformed Church on Sundays.

Brownie Troop 154 visited the Senate House and are planning a trip to a butterfly farm in Greene County. They made Easter baskets for the Mother Cabrini Home.

Brownie Troop 37 will spend a day at Camp Wendy on June 19.

Junior Troop 133 made up a sunshine basket for the Finger Home and sold poppies for the VFW on Loyalty Day.

Junior Troop 73 had 2 nature trail hikes at Seamon Park and have made equipment for the Cerebral Palsy Clinic.

Cadette Troop 104 is collecting books for needy children in Kentucky. As a service to their sponsor, the girls wash dishes for the meetings of the Methodist Men's Club. The troop holds its weekly meetings outdoors and the girls cook their own suppers.

Junior Troop 169 camped at Camp Wendy May 15 and 16. They collected toys for American Indian children. The girls are helping to clean up the yard at the old Blue Mountain School and will plant flowers.

Cadette Troop 66 visited the Mother Cabrini Home in April. They showed their "sisters" at the home how to decorate cookies. The troop donated flowers to their sponsor, Plattkill Reformed Church, at Easter. They are also collecting books for Appalachia.

All Cadette troops in the Saugerties neighborhood will participate in a camporee at Camp Wendy June 18-20.

Vols Auxiliary Schedules Picnic

Mostly routine business was conducted at the Tuesday night meeting of Centerville Fire Company Ladies' Auxiliary held at the firehouse.

The members are deciding to hold a picnic on July 11. Time and place to be given at the June meeting.

They are planning to put new fiberglass drapes on the windows of the fire hall and to buy a new coffee urn.

For the June meeting, president, Mrs. Evelyn Sherwood, requests members bring 14-book of stamps for this project.

New Bid Made For Alum Pact, Expires Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — A new proposal aimed at achieving a settlement before contracts covering 30,000 aluminum workers expire at midnight Monday has been presented by the United Steelworkers of America to five aluminum producers.

The union made the proposal Thursday after having rejected a 16.5 cents an hour offer over one year from the Aluminum Company of America.

The nature of the new proposal was not disclosed. The union said there were pressing matters relating to pensions, insurance, wages and job security that could not be resolved on the basis of 16.5 cents an hour over one year.

Current wage rates range from $2.19 to $3.60 an hour, a union spokesman said.

In addition to ALCOA, the union has been negotiating with the Reynolds Metals Co., Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., and Ormet Corp.

Blames U.S. Film

MOSCOW (AP)—Izvestia says the American movie "The Magnificent Seven" has corrupted Soviet youth.

The government newspaper reported that two young boys in Smolensk stole rifles from a museum and later told police they wanted to look like the heroes of the American Western.

An eighth-grade boy repeatedly attacked girls and stole their money after seeing the movie, Izvestia said.

Scott Disputes Clark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., disputed today a contention of his Democratic colleague, Sen. Joseph S. Clark, that Pennsylvania is a backward state in solving its unemployment problems.

In a letter to Clark, Scott said Pennsylvania has pulled itself up by its bootstraps "under the guidance of a first-rate governor" and has far outstripped the national prosperity trend.

He agreed with Clark, however, that the state can't afford to be complacent until everyone seeking work is given a job opportunity.

Blasts End Stillness

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The stillness of the Florida Everglades is being broken by the boom of explosives probing the bone-dry soil for water.

Demolition crews from Homestead Air Force Base were called in Thursday in an effort to reach water needed by wildlife in Everglades National Park, where only three-tenths of an inch of rain has fallen since March 4.

Park rangers say there is a great danger of fire in the vast, grassy hinterland which makes up most of the southern tip of the Florida Peninsula.

Killed in Crash

CORNING, N.Y. (AP) — Ernest G. Sothard, 24, of Elkland, Pa., was killed today in the collision of two automobiles on Route 15 in the nearby town of Finley.

Police said Sothard was driving one of the cars. He was en route to work in Painted Post, police said.

Reformed Church Notes Activities

The 11 a. m. service at Saugerties Reformed Church Sunday will be in keeping with the observance of Memorial Day. The hymns and anthems will appropriately recall the significance of the day. The sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Orville Jay Hine, is entitled "In Remembrance."

Sunday school will meet 9:45 a. m. in the chapel on John Street. The service of worship will be led by two of the boys of the church working for their God and Country Award. William Brown and Eric Hanson.

Confirmation Class will meet Tuesday 3 p. m. in the parsonage. This will be the last session as the young people will be received into the church Sunday, June 6.

Women's Guild for Christian Service will hold its picnic meeting Wednesday 6:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. W. Overbaugh, Lighthouse Drive. All members are requested to bring a place setting and chair. The women will also hold a linen shower for Ellen Russell Finger Home. Articles needed include, sheets 72x80, pillowcases, washcloths, towels, mattress covers, blankets and bedspreads. These articles do not necessarily have to be new, but must be clean and usable.

Choir will rehearse Thursday 7:15 p. m.
Girl Scout Brownies meet Saturday 10 a. m. in the parish hall.

Public Library Notes

A fisherman who lives alone on the Island of the Angels a sick child, the ocean at its worst and the leaders of a small underprivileged community are the ingredients which combine to make this simple story both entertaining and enriching. Leonard Wibberley, living now in the United States, is familiar with Baja California which is the scene of this recent book.

Wibberley was born in Dublin, Ireland and came to the United States as a correspondent for an English newspaper in 1943. He ranges far afield in his writings from science fantasy to travel and books for young people. His Treegate books, dealing with the adventures of the Revolutionary period of this country, are a contrast to the books he has written for young auto racing fans. Mr. Wibberley wastes neither words nor time in reaching his readers.

Adults will find his travel books quite as interesting as his Mouse on the Moon or A Feast of Freedom.

Vote Is Expected On Birth-Control Devices Next Week

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A controversial bill to legalize the sale of birth-control devices in New York State is listed for a vote in the Senate next week.

It will have the backing of Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki. He shifted the bill into the Rules Committee, which he heads, from a committee in which it had been locked.

Zaretzki said Thursday his committee would report the bill for a vote.

The Legislature was in recess today for a long Memorial Day weekend. Both houses held brief sessions Thursday marked by high absenteeism that forced leaders to put off action on most controversial legislation.

An exception was Senate approval, after a debate, of a bill to empower local school boards to ban fraternities, sororities and other secret societies in public high schools. The vote was 43-2. The bill was sent to the Assembly.

Prohibited Now

Present state laws prohibit the dispensing of birth-control information or devices except for physicians acting to prevent or cure disease.

The statutes have been widely ignored, however. Sen. William D. Thompson, D-Brooklyn, a co-sponsor of the measure to repeal the ban, said "this is a ridiculous situation. All we're trying to do is be realistic and make the law conform to the wishes and practices of the people of this state."

The bill is expected to run into stiff opposition from the Roman Catholic Church, which has opposed any relaxation of the present law.

The measure was sent originally to the codes committee. Its chairman, Sen. Thomas Duffy, D-Queens, announced that he was opposed to the measure and it appeared it would die without coming to a vote.

Thompson and other backers of the bill appealed to Zaretzki and he removed the measure from Duffy's jurisdiction.

Appeal to Zaretzki

Thompson and the bill's other sponsor, Sen. George R. McCall, R-Auburn, amended the original version, which repealed the ban outright, to improve its chances of passage.

The final version of the bill would limit the sale of contraceptives to licensed pharmacies, ban sale to persons under 16 years of age and prohibit any advertising of them.

Subject to Fines

Under the present law, persons who sell contraceptives are subject to fines of $150 to $3,000 and jail sentences ranging from 10 days to three years, depending on whether it is a first, second or third offense.

The absenteeism in the Legislature Thursday was caused by the many members who wanted a headstart on the holiday weekend.

Assemblyman Lucio Russo, R-Staten Island, complained on the Assembly floor that the necessity for delaying a vote on controversial measures because of the many empty seats was "a disgraceful exhibition." An Assembly aide reported that 46 of the 150 members were absent.

Evers Attorney To Proceed With $25,000 Lawsuit

That $25,000 lawsuit against the Town of Woodstock and suspended Constable John Melia is still on, even though the attorney for Town Historian Alf I. Evers was not present to issue the summons on Supervisor Molyneux and the board at this week's meeting.

A few days earlier, however, Attorney Franklin P. Gavin announced that Evers had given him instructions to commence an action.

Gavin said his client had not heard anything from the town or its representatives or its attorney. He also pointed out that the town has not availed itself of its privileges under the General Municipal Law to audit or pay the claim. The 30 days in which they could have done so, have now elapsed.

This means that Evers and Gavin are now in a position to commence their lawsuit for alleged false arrest.

"I have been instructed by my client to start litigation," said Gavin, "and the first step in the process will be the issuance of summons. This will be followed within a short time by the issuance and serving of the complaint."

Missed Meeting

Evers said Thursday that Gavin was detained in Albany Tuesday and could not get to Woodstock in time for the town board meeting. He said the necessary steps to start the suit for alleged false arrest would be taken "in the next few days."

In the absence of any summons, the board dealt with routine items. In a discussion about zoning, Supervisor Molyneux again raised the hoary cry about Woodstock serving as a bedroom community for the industrial complex which has grown up in the Town of Ulster, which gets all the benefits of increased assessments while Woodstock provides the people who work there with school, police and fire services.

The board advised Thaddeus and Anita Yuran of Zena that no decision has been reached on the private airport for personal use they proposed in that hamlet, pending receipt of information from the Association of Towns on ground rules for such a project.

Open to Public

The Yurans had previously agreed that any such airport would not be open to the public but would be made available for business or recreational use beneficial to the town and its residents.

Open to Public

The Yurans had previously agreed that any such airport would not be open to the public but would be made available for business or recreational use beneficial to the town and its residents.

residents, if requested by the Town Board or any future board. This had resulted from the board's belief that it would be far better to have one airport that would aid the growing demand of air travel for short hops, business hops, recreation, etc. than to have several or more ringing the township.

The supervisor announced that the board had not yet received anything in writing from the Kingston law firm of Beck and Ewig on the proposed Zoning Ordinance, but expected a lengthy typed report as to the enforceability of the ordinance by the end of the week.

Plan Meetings

Meanwhile, the board contemplates an executive meeting on zoning, followed by a public hearing before the matter is acted upon. The board will also discuss police and other summer onslaught problems in Woodstock.

Responding to a communication from the Board of Fire Commissioners, discussed the possibility of a new fire alarm system, perhaps a 24-hour answering service to cover police and fire calls. The commissioners noted that excellent work is being done by Mrs. Charles Hoffman, Fire Chief George Haythorne and Marge Harder in relaying calls but arrangements must be made for fuller protection in the future.

The board voted to dispose of old records of the town clerk—bills, vouchers, canceled checks—after the town historian has looked them over in order to save anything of historical significance.

Demos Rummage Sale Saturday

Democratic Club officials announced today that its annual rummage sale and fair on Saturday would be the largest in the history of the club.

The sale starts at 10 a. m. and continues until 5 p. m. on the grounds of the Woodstock Playhouse. At 3 p. m. there will be an auction of brand new items.

There will be more than 15 tables of rummage sale, in addition to the widest variety of merchandise ever offered. Food and refreshment will be available on the grounds.

Anneliese Krein Winner in German

Anneliese Krein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Krein of Allaben, was declared a first-prize winner for the second year German group in New York State, together with K. Mertz of Albany Academy.

A number of German students from Ontario High School went to Vassar College in April to take part in the annual German Contest for high school students sponsored by the American Association of German teachers.

Items Adopted By Local LWV

The Woodstock League of Women Voters has adopted a new local current agenda item: "A Study and Evaluation of the Planning, Administration and Financing of Public Recreation for the Town of Woodstock."

The local continuing responsibility item is "Support of Immediate Passage of the Proposed Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Woodstock."

The state League at its May convention in Syracuse adopted a new item and a continuing study item, Mrs. Robert Donnan, local president, has announced.

The new item is: "Evaluation of the Methods of Selecting Judges Under a Statewide Unified Court System." For continuing state item for the next two years will be "Evaluation and Support of Measures to Assure Equitable Representation From New York State Legislative Districts." As a state continuing responsibility item the League continued its interest in financing of education and the New York State election system.

The 1965-66 National Emergency Item is "Apportionment of State Legislature: Evaluation of the basis of representation as determined by the federal constitutional and statutory provisions, which shall govern the apportionment of state legislatures."

Board Revises Awards Policy

The controversial Ontario Board of Education policy concerning the criteria for awarding graduation prizes has been revised as follows:

All high school graduation awards and other prizes, honors and distinctions bestowed upon students through the facilities of the school shall have no restrictive limitations placed upon the awarding of these prizes by the donating organization or individual involved.

Such limitations are construed as relating to race, color, creed, religion, national origin, or geographical residence of the students within the school district. Only those high school graduation awards meeting the above requirements will be a part of the official graduation ceremonies and printed program.

Census Cost for Woodstock—$1539

It cost the Town of Woodstock $1,539.92 for the recent special census, necessitating a transfer of funds from surplus to contingent funds at the May meeting of the Town Board.

Board members felt the money was well worth spending in view of increased per capita aid. Official results are expected within the next few weeks.

The board received a bill for $67.60 submitted by Henry C. Tangee of Mead Mt. Road, for damages to his boiler during the drought period in October, 1964.

Zoning Referendum

Councilman Gottlob Wagner again raised the question of a referendum before the zoning ordinance is officially adopted. Supervisor Molyneux, who twice promised an informal serial ballot survey on the subject, said there is no permissive referendum required by law.

Fire Company 3 Meets Tuesday

The regular monthly meeting of The Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 of the Willow-Lake Hill-Shady areas will be held Tuesday evening, June 1, beginning at 8 p. m. at the firehouse in Lake Hill.

All active members of the fire company are urged to attend the monthly meetings.

Fire drills for the month of June are scheduled for Sunday, June 13 at 2 p. m. at the firehouse, and Wednesday, June 30, at 7 p. m. at the firehouse.

No. 3 Auxiliary Plans Bus Trip

Reservations for the bus trip to the World's Fair on Saturday, June 5, are being accepted by the Ladies Auxiliary of Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3 of Lake Hill. A call to Mrs. Alfred Osterlander in Willow will reserve space on the bus.

The bus will leave the Village Green in Woodstock at 8 a. m. Saturday June 5, returning from the World's Fair in the late evening of the same day.

Plans for the annual rummage sale at the firehouse in Lake Hill on Saturday, July 3, were also discussed at the monthly meeting of the Auxiliary held Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Walter Stone is in charge of the annual rummage and food sale, with Mrs. Hugh Martin in charge of the food department.

Rummage for the sale will be collected at the firehouse beginning June 21, afternoons and evenings.

A proposed revision in the by-laws of the Auxiliary will be voted upon at the next meeting of the group, to be held on Tuesday, June 29, at the firehouse. New members will be welcomed at this meeting.

Manorska School Presents Ballet

The students of the Manorska School of Dance will present a program of fairytales old and new on Sunday, June 13, at 4 p. m. at Woodstock town hall.

About fifty children, aged four years and up, will dance their way through five different ballets, ranging in mood from the romantic to the comical, the dramatic and satirical.

The dances based on such varied themes as the passing of the seasons, a circus show, the fairytale of the Little Mermaid, and a space age-conscious Trip to the Moon, will use the music of Chopin, Tchaikovsky, Adams and Prokofiev.

Tickets can be obtained either at the Manorska Studio or at the boxoffice on June 13.

Promotions Are Announced by N. Y. State Police

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Police has a new inspector and two new lieutenants, Supt. Arthur Cornelius has announced. Lt. Supervisor George F. Lake Jr. of Wantagh has been promoted to the $13,285-a-year post of inspector and transferred from Troop K, Hawthorne, to the division headquarters in Albany.

Succeeding him at Hawthorne will be Lt. C. Richard Samson of Latham, who has been with the Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

The promotions to lieutenant went to Richard E. Boland of Peekskill, now a senior investigator, and Sgt. William K. Dillon of Albany.

Both will be transferred to division headquarters. Their annual salary is $10,280.

Republican Leader Hits Demos in Albany

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Carl Spad, State Republican Chairman, has accused the Democratic majority in the state Legislature of "incredible incompetence and inconceivable irresponsibility."

Spad said Thursday night that if Alfred E. Smith, Herbert H. Lehman and Franklin D. Roosevelt, former Democratic governnors, were alive today they would desert the Democratic party.

The three "must be looking down in utter disbelief at the Democratic debacle in the Legislature this year," Spad told a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner for the Erie County GOP Committee.

Words of Warning

President Kwame Nkrumah has counted on additional private industry to take advantage of the plentiful electric power but one foreign businessman says:

"There is a real danger that the Volta Dam could become something of a white elephant unless the government sees fit to change its attitude toward private business."

Ghana's strenuous efforts to industrialize and modernize her agricultural economy plus a sharp drop in world cocoa prices have brought the country near bankruptcy. Cocoa accounts for 65 per cent of export earnings.

This condition, plus Nkrumah's statements such as "The surest road to the welfare and happiness of the people lies in socialism," have discouraged private investment.

The dam itself was finished on schedule in February and work on the generating equipment is nearing completion. The first electricity is expected to flow in September.

Volta River Dam in Ghana Delicate Matter for Farmers

By KENNETH L. WHITING

AKOSOMBO, Ghana (AP)—Six hundred villages have been inundated by a lake backed up behind the completed Volta River Dam, and 80,000 Ghanaians had to move.

The Volta River Authority made elaborate plans but found the two-year resettlement program a delicate matter for small farmers long rooted to tiny jungle plots near obscure hamlets.

Some 12,500 "nuclear-type" houses were built in 52 replacement villages. They are concrete-wood-aluminum structures with a single completed room per family. Inhabitants were expected to add two other rooms themselves with materials supplied by the government.

The self-help involved in completing the homes has required more government assistance than originally planned, says Frank J. Dobson, a Canadian who heads the Volta River Authority.

Multi-purpose Project

The $196-million Volta River hydroelectric scheme is a multi-purpose project designed after the Tennessee Valley Authority.

It aims to control flooding on the Volta River, provide enough electricity for all southern Ghana with enough left over to power an aluminum smelter, attract new industry and provide thousands of jobs.

The man-made lake of 3,275 square miles covers 4 per cent of Ghana's surface.

Some $47 million in U.S. funds helped finance the dam and another $100 million from America is budgeted for the aluminum smelter.

Ground was broken at Tema for the smelter in February. Volta Aluminum Co. — Valco — is being built by Kaiser and Kaiser and Reynolds will take most of its production.

The smelter was contracted for several years ago and virtually is the only expansion by private industry in Ghana at present.

Words of Warning

President Kwame Nkrumah has counted on additional private industry to take advantage of the plentiful electric power but one foreign businessman says:

"There is a real danger that the Volta Dam could become something of a white elephant unless the government sees fit to change its attitude toward private business."

Ghana's strenuous efforts to industrialize and modernize her agricultural economy plus a sharp drop in world cocoa prices have brought the country near bankruptcy. Cocoa accounts for 65 per cent of export earnings.

This condition, plus Nkrumah's statements such as "The surest road to the welfare and happiness of the people lies in socialism," have discouraged private investment.

The dam itself was finished on schedule in February and work on the generating equipment is nearing completion. The first electricity is expected to flow in September.

Westchester Man Reappointed to Power Authority

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Theodore Hill Jr. of Jefferson Valley in Westchester County has been reappointed to his $10,000-a-year post on the State Power Authority and the action has been confirmed by the Senate.

The quick confirmation came Thursday shortly after Gov. Rockefeller announced the reappointments of Hill and William H. Hill of Johnson City, who is not related to Theodore, to the Central New York State Parks Commission.

Confirmation on the latter selection is pending. That post is unsalaried.

Frustrating Day in Viet Nam

Airborne Brigade Counters Elusive Cong, Natural Foes

EDITOR'S NOTE — Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed in South Viet Nam early this month. Pulitzer Prize-winning AP photographer Horst Faas accompanied a battalion on its first action against the Viet Cong. Here is his report.

By HORST FAAS
AP Photographer

VUNG TAU, South Viet Nam (AP) — Girls in bikinis were sunning and surfing as the three companies of paratroopers flew over this seaside resort. Artillery and bombs sounded sharply 15 miles away, softening up the landing zone.

The 173rd Airborne Brigade had landed in Viet Nam early this month. On Wednesday helicopters carried the 503rd Regiment's 1st Battalion into its first action against the Viet Cong. It was a frustrating experience with an elusive human enemy and relentless natural foes.

Greeted by Snipers
Sniper fire greeted the helicopters as they landed, then the guerrillas faded away. The men moved off in steaming tropical heat, two companies clambering up and over huge boulders toward the hills, the third moving through the valleys.

"Sure, I can go on. I'm airborne," he told his commander and hobbled off.

Throughout the afternoon the troops fought clinging jungle vines and thorns. Mosquitoes attacked in swarms. Faces, hands and arms were streaked with blood from bites and the snags of thorns and vines. But at times the vines came in handy as the heavily loaded troops pulled themselves up sheer rocks and cliffs.

A heavy tropical rain set in at dark, making things cooler but making the bush and the rocks slippery. The paratroopers still wore smooth-soled jump boots though they hope to be issued cleated jungle boots soon.

They found an abandoned Viet Cong lookout with an excellent view of the airfield at Vung Tau and the highway leading from the town. They blew up the post and moved on up into the hills, struggling over the rain-slick rocks with their 50-caliber machine guns, bazookas, mortars and ammunition.

Bed Down in Rain
They bedded down for the night in a downpour. The day's pouring sweat turned into shivering cold. No fires or smoking were permitted. A helicopter hovered over a hacked out clearing and dropped C rations and jerry cans of water.

During the night the Americans could hear Vietnamese artillery firing near by and one firefight between Vietnamese and Viet.

At daybreak they moved off

Two Persons Perish In Rochester Fire

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Two persons died, one of burns and the other from injuries suffered in a leap from a window in an apartment fire in Rochester today.

Police said one of the victims was Joseph Meyer, 70, who was pronounced dead of burns on arrival at Genesee Hospital.

The second man, identified tentatively as Robert Boose, 40, died in a hospital. Police said he failed to heed their plea not to jump from a second-floor window.

Two firemen and two occupants of the building were treated for smoke inhalation and minor injuries.

Firemen wearing gas masks rescued about 40 persons from the building near downtown.

Other details were not immediately available.

again and saw a man perched in the trees, peering through foliage apparently as an observer for the Viet Cong. The troops held their fire, under orders not to open up unless they could see a weapon. He vanished in the thick bush.

A few minutes later the lead men approached an intersection of trails and there were sharp bursts of automatic fire. One fell with bullet wounds in the shoulder and side, the other threw himself into the bush after taking his beneath his arm. The remainder of the company charged into the bush with weapons blazing. That ended that Viet Cong attack.

The wounded men were given first aid while young troops met them at their first combat meeting. Their heads in awe and older veterans debated whether it had been sniper fire or an ambush.

'It's Bad Enough'
"What difference does it make?" asked one younger man. "It's bad enough."

HUAC Concludes Illinois Sessions

CHICAGO (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities has concluded three days of hearings on communism in Illinois, marked by an abundance of demonstrations and a lack of testimony.

Only Two Testify
Only two witnesses, both FBI informers, testified. Nine others pleaded constitutional protection against testifying or walked out of the hearing room.

During the final day of hearings Thursday, police and federal marshals arrested 38 demonstrators, some for singing in the hearing room, others for raising a commotion outside the building. Two demonstrators suffered head cuts trying to break through police lines.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., committee chairman, said the committee had received a rounded picture of Communist activities.

Willis said the committee had acquired additional information of Communist operations among youths and peace groups and of agitation in the housing field and in civil rights groups.

Willis said the committee condemned against two witnesses who walked out Thursday after refusing to testify.

One of the two witnesses, Dr. Jeremiah Stamler, 45, prominent heart disease specialist, was characterized by the committee counsel as "one of those in charge of setting up the Communist party underground" in the early 1950s.

Doctor Balks
The committee counsel, Alfred M. Nittle, raised the point while questioning another witness, Laura Bough, 34, of San Francisco. She refused to answer.

When Dr. Stamler went on the witness stand, he gave his name and address, but refused further testimony.

An assistant to Dr. Stamler in the research division of the Chicago Board of Health, Yolanda Hall, also walked out after declining to answer questions.

"I am now and always have been a loyal American citizen," she said.

Owego Senior Killed
OWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—Darryl Cornett, 18, of Owego, a high school senior, was killed today in the collision of his motorcycle and a truck as he rode toward his school.

The accident occurred at about 7:30 a.m. on Route 38 two miles north of here. Cornett was thrown against the truck.

A veteran officer knelt by one man and said: "I've seen many wounded a lot worse who made it. You'll be okay."

"They ruined my new tee shirt," said one of the wounded. "Sorry about that," replied the other, using one of the most popular GI phrases in Viet Nam.

The men were carried to a clearing. A medical helicopter made a difficult straight-up-and-down maneuver to take them out.

The company moved on and again came under fire, this time from a big Buddhist pagoda on top of a hill. They charged up the steep slope. "Just like Monte Cassino," one trooper shouted — but found no one.

At the end of the two-day operation the battalion had nine men wounded. They had taken one suspect and believed they had killed two Viet Cong. They also had had experience they couldn't get any other way and a new idea of the job they face.

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate completed congressional approval Thursday of a $15.4-billion authorization for such military hardware as missiles, aircraft and combat vessels. The Senate acted by voice vote a day after House passage.

The final total of $15,402,800,000 is $119 million more than the Senate approved originally and $99.4 million above what the House wanted. But it is $105.6 million more than President Johnson requested.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service said Thursday night manufacturers will not be given refunds on excise-tax reductions unless they pass savings on to consumers.

If the excise-tax reduction sought by President Johnson becomes law, refunds will be made on automobiles and air conditioners bought after May 14 and on other items bought after July 1.

The IRS said payment to the consumer must be made in either cash or check by the manufacturer or dealer.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a bill to create an administration of aging. The office would operate within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. It would authorize grants to states and universities for a variety of programs designed to help the elderly.

The measure authorizes $6.5 million in grants the first year. The bill, called the Older Americans Act, now goes back to the House for consideration of Senate amendments.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed a bill adding three years to the life of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

The new law also authorizes $30 million for the agency's work during the period.

The administration had asked $35 million and a four-year authorization. The agency was scheduled to die July 1.

Battery Trouble

That might enable them to meet the June 3 launch date.

They said the simulated flight that was called off today originally had not been scheduled until Monday.

McDivitt and White, both Air Force majors, are to take the Gemini 4 spacecraft aloft for 97 hours and 50 minutes, the longest man-in-space flight yet scheduled by the United States.

Space Walk Planned
Early in the flight, White is to emerge from the orbiting capsule and float in space, at the end of a tether, for about 12 minutes.

The primary purpose of the flight will be to determine how well the astronauts and spacecraft systems will stand long exposure to space weightlessness.

During the simulated mission today, McDivitt and White were to sit in a spacecraft simulator and run through everything they are to do from time the countdown reached 30 minutes and then run through procedures for the 6 minutes of Titan 2-powered flight.

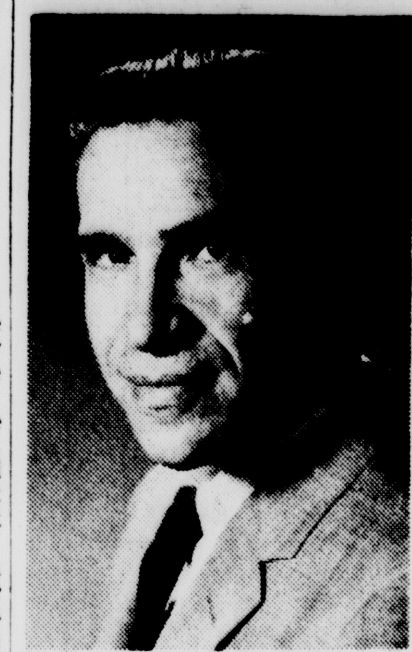

After that they were to practice some of the highlights of the flight.

C-H Dividend

The Board of Directors of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, at the monthly meeting held at the company's South Road Office, Poughkeepsie, today declared a dividend of $1.08 1/2 per share on its 4.35 percent cumulative preferred stock; $1.12 1/2 per share on the company's 4 1/2 percent cumulative preferred stock; $1.18 1/2 per share on its 4.75 percent cumulative preferred stock and $1.24 per share on its 4.96 percent cumulative preferred stock. Each of these dividends will be payable July 1 to holders of record June 10.

DR. HERBERT F. SCHWARTZ

Succeeds Holcomb
Chest Surgeon Is Named President Of TB & Health

A prominent Kingston chest surgeon, Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, was elected president of the Ulster County TB and Health Association during a recent meeting of the board of directors at 124 Green Street.

Dr. Schwartz succeeds Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb, Sr., who has served as president since 1953.

Others Elected

Association officials also nominated and elected were John M. Robbins, first vice-president; Frederic W. Robinson, second vice-president; Mrs. Robert J. Ryan, Secretary and Miss Katharine T. Terwilliger, treasurer. Dr. Schwartz has been outstanding in community TB work and in the program and direction of the County TB Association. Former Medical Director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, he also is a member of the Ulster County TB Association's Board of Directors.

He also has served as the first chairman of the group's new Respiratory Disease Education Committee, and in this latter affiliation helped develop the program of the Respiratory Disease Institute for physicians and nurses given at the Ulster County Community College in 1963.

Dr. Schwartz attended the College of the City of New York, received his B.A. and M.A. degrees at Columbia University, and his M.D. from the University of Pennsylvania. Following an internship at Beth El Hospital, Brooklyn, he served his residency in Tuberculosis at Sea View Hospital, S. I. He then gained further chest disease training in his affiliations with the Schenectady County Tuberculosis Hospital, New York State Department of Health and Robert Koch Tuberculosis Hospital at St. Louis. Dr. Schwartz was medical director of the Hickman County Tuberculosis Hospital and Chest Clinic until 1952 when he settled at Kingston.

Active in Civic Affairs

Active in local civic affairs and prominent in community health interests, Dr. Schwartz also was appointed in 1961 by Governor Rockefeller as charter member of the Board of Visitors of the Highland Training School. He is a member of the County of Ulster as well as the State and National medical groups; is a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators, the American Thoracic Society, and is a fellow of the American College of Chest Physicians.

Dr. Schwartz also was elected by the TB Association as its representative director to its State affiliate, the New York State Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Other Officers Designated

John M. Robbins, elected as first vice-president of the TB Association, is a resident of Saugerties. He is a graduate of Albany Business College and is secretary-treasurer of the Saugerties Savings Bank. Robbins is an active member of the association's Board of Directors, executive committee, and is former second vice-president of the organization. Robbins previously was chairman of the nominating committee in 1960 and is co-chairman of the Budget Committee. He has served since 1961 as chairman of the By-Laws Committee, and has worked three years as County Co-Chairman, with Fred H. DuBois, of the annual Ulster County Christmas Seal Campaign.

Frederic W. Robinson, newly elected second vice-president of the Association, is a resident of Marlboro, and is vice-president and manager of the Marlboro Branch of Kingston Trust Company. An active member of the TB group's Board of Directors, he also has participated in the association's Smoking and X-ray Surveys school faculty and staff. Robinson is president of Orange County Bankers Association — and of the Hudson Valley Chapter, NABAC. He is president-elect of the American Institute of Banking, Poughkeepsie Chapter.

Mrs. Ryan, has been an active member of the Board of Directors of the Association and has worked extensively in the group's Office Volunteer Program and in office procedures. She is a graduate of Mount St. Vincent College, New York City, and is a former faculty member of the Kingston Consolidated Schools. The former Elizabeth Dwyer, she is the wife of a prominent Kingston Insurance executive.

Katherine T. Terwilliger, in addition to active membership on the Association's Board of Directors is a member of executive committee, By-Laws Committee, budget committee and of the personnel and administrative

Appeal Under Study

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Supreme Court has under advisement an appeal from a nominee for judge from Northumberland County who is threatened with a six-month suspension from practicing law.

Charging that the facts leading up to the suspension were "completely uncorroborated and untrue," attorney Peter Krehel of Equipment asked the state's highest court to overrule action of the Northumberland County Court.

Krehel won the Democratic nomination for one of two county judgeships in the May 18 primary. Should his appeal be rejected, he could be a candidate for judge in the November election while under suspension as a lawyer.

DeAngelis Gets 10 Years

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Anthony (Tino) DeAngelis was sentenced to 10 years in federal prison today for his part in one of history's biggest commercial frauds — a multimillion-dollar vegetable oil swindle that rocked Wall Street.

Comedian Faces Knife

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Mort Sahl has been admitted to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where he was to undergo surgery of the larynx for removal of a growth, doctors said.

Sahl, 38, entered the hospital Thursday, and removal of a papilloma was planned today. He insisted the papilloma and the operation were not serious.

She also has been special advisor in organization and finances. A prominent resident of Ellenville, she has served as member of the board of directors, and as treasurer of the Veterans Memorial Hospital; is active in the program of the Wawarsing Historical Society and is a member of the Ellenville Planning Commission.

Red Cross Offers Home Pool Advice

The Affluent Society has taken to the water — at home! A survey by the National Swimming Pool Institute shows that more than two-thirds of all the swimming pools in the country — some 350,000 out of barely half a million — are privately owned residential pools, according to Gerhard Klemm, Water Safety Chairman of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

"This means that a sizable portion of the 100,000,000 Americans who use the water for recreation every year do it in their own back yards," Klemm observed. "And I wonder how many of them do it safely?"

"Home swimming pools, like some pools in other categories, have this characteristic in common — they are almost never protected by professional lifeguards."

"This means that the first rule of safe swimming generally applies with particular force to the residential pool: never swim alone — always swim with a 'buddy'."

"An equally important safety rule is: always have an adult, able to swim himself, at the poolside when it is being used by small children. Such a volunteer lifeguard should know also the mouth-to-mouth method of artificial respiration."

Other Red Cross rules for residential swimming pool safety are these:

Consult your local health department for regulations on pool sanitation. Learn how to test purity of water.

Be sure all pool users know how to swim. If there are a number of non-swimmers or poor swimmers in the neighborhood, consider swimming classes and safety demonstrations. The Ulster County Red Cross Chapter will help.

Do not permit bottles or glassware on or near the deck of the pool.

Fence pool, and include gate which can be padlocked when pool is not in use.

Make some provision for shade so pool users can get respite from the sun.

Install a home pool safety post — with ring buoy, reaching pole, and emergency telephone numbers. The Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross can supply, on request, posters giving instructions for setting up safety post for home pool or farm pond.

Keep a first aid kit on hand.

Be sure some member of your family knows how to administer first aid, especially artificial respiration. The Ulster County Red Cross chapter can give you information as to when first aid classes are available.

Allow no running or horseplay around or in the pool.

To help keep the pool clean and guard against infections, provide an antiseptic footbath and, if possible, some kind of shower arrangement.

Check your insurance policies to determine whether or not you are covered for accidents in the pool area. An attorney can tell you what your legal liability is.

celebrate the joint birthdays of Danny Boice and his aunt, Mrs. Bogert.

Mrs. Margaret Rau Gersback of Hurley called on Miss Kathryn Krom one day last week. Mrs. Gersback was a former student of Miss Krom in Valley Stream.

Double Finesse Tool to Win

BY JACOB Y & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The double finesse is a finesse against two missing cards. Thus, South misses both the king and queen of spades. If he lays down the ace, he is going to lose two spade tricks unless he drops either the king or queen. If he leads from dummy and finesse the jack later on, he will only lose two spade tricks if West holds both the missing honors.

Thus, while a single finesse has an even money chance to succeed, a double finesse succeeds three times out of four.

West holds both the king and queen of spades as you can see from a look at the hands. This time the double finesse is going to lose, so that any South player who tries it will probably complain about hard luck. A South player who knows how to play won't be afflicted with this hard luck.

There is no law compelling anyone to finesse twice if he can eliminate the need for the second finesse and South can try this easily.

All South has to do is to win the diamond opening draw trumps and take all the clubs and dummy's remaining high diamond. Then he leads a spade from dummy and puts in the ten.

This starts the double finesse but South has done all the finessing he has to do. West is in the lead. If he leads back a spade, South makes the ace and jack automatically. If he leads back a club or diamond, South ruffs in one hand and discards a spade from the other.

Two Help Secure Key Village in Viet Nam

By HAL BOYLE

LE MY, South Viet Nam (AP) — Fifty yards from the hand laid rock road some natives were digging graves.

On the edge of the road on straw mats lay those for whom the graves were being dug. They were the bodies of the last two dihard guerrillas in the village of Le My.

"After they wounded one of our men yesterday" explained a U.S. Marine laconically "we cornered them in a house. They hid under a tarpaulin. One of our fellows tossed in a grenade — and that did it."

Hour of Sweet Victory

Some 200 yards up the highway was the mobile jeep headquarters of one of the best-liked men on the battlefield here — Lt. Col. David A. Clement, 40, Jacksonville, Fla., commander of the 2nd Battalion of the U.S. 3rd Marine Regiment.

It was an hour of sweet victory for Clement and his men.

Nine Injured as Bus Skids in Heavy Rain

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Nine persons were injured slightly late Thursday night when a Greyhound bus skidded off the Thruway near here during a heavy rain storm.

Robert Burns, 29, of West Belmar, N.J., the driver of the bus, explained that he had just passed a truck when the bus started to slide. He said the bus landed on its side, then bounced back to an upright position before stopping.

Three of the injured persons, including Burns, were admitted to Albany Medical Center Hospital.

The bus was enroute from New York City to Montreal.

They had just completed a simple but colorful ceremony with local village officials during which they had reopened to traffic two bridges blown up by the Viet Cong.

The burying of the two slain enemy and the reopening of the repaired bridges doubly demonstrated that the key village of Le My had been made secure.

To Lt. Col. Clement, nicknamed "The Great Pacificator," it meant the solution of his biggest problem since he and his 1,000 men landed here early in April. The pacification of the area around the vital Da Nang air base had been a key task assigned to the U.S. Marines.

The Marines suffered a number of casualties in the village. It would have been easy for them to have razed it but this isn't that kind of a war.

The village finally was cleared by a delicate program of grenades for the enemy and good will gestures toward the general population.

Annapolis Graduate

Clement, a raw-boned man who weighs 200 pounds and stands three inches over six feet, is a 1945 Annapolis graduate who won a Silver Star as a company commander in Korea. He has six children ranging in age from 18 down to 6.

He was born with a Marine brand on him. His father was the late famed three-star Marine Gen. William T. Clement, one of the most popular officers the corps ever produced.

In six weeks here, Col. Clement's battalion has worked through a 48-square-mile area.

"Some of it is still hostile and we are still conducting operations," he said. "Our most tangible success has been in this village of Le My and we will soon have it operating normally."

Eloquent Men, Buffoons Silent

Present Is Quietest Time In Last 30 Years of History

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's too quiet. It's like the end of an age.

There's been hardly a time in the past 30 years when the world didn't have at least one loud-mouth, or an eloquent man whose syllables sounded like the footstep of history, or one who set fear and fury afire.

In those three decades there has been only one real comedian of top stature — Nikita Khrushchev — although he was funny in a grisly way.

But now there's no one in sight to fit any of those categories except Cuba's Fidel Castro, who can shout five hours at a stretch. He's been strangely silent lately, or almost silent.

No one has ever replaced the warm, calm, sometimes cutting, sometimes indignant, sometimes outraged tones of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who used words to reassure or arouse a responsive nation.

May Never Be Another

And perhaps never again in history will anyone become so truly and completely a spokesman for the very human and earnest convictions of mankind as Sir Winston Churchill.

There's no one quite like Benito Mussolini anymore. Even though he blew up his ego with his own homemade bicycle pump until he looked like an overdressed buffoon in a tailor shop, he had to be listened to.

Since he and his Fascist party held the Italians captive and enthralled, and since he was vicious and unpredictable, he could be a menace, as he proved.

Yet even he was outdone by that animal with a mustache, Adolf Hitler.

Words of Meaning

Indians worshipped Mohandas Gandhi, not only for what he said but what he did, and they respectfully followed Prime Minister Nehru, an intellectual whose words were examined in Europe, Asia and America as well as in India.

Today in this country there is probably not more than one American out of 10 who could say offhand that the Indian replacement for Gandhi and Nehru is Prime Minister Shastri, a self-effacing little man.

President Truman was not an orator. His greatness was in his vision and his decisiveness. President Eisenhower, who inherited a troubled country in 1952, made a career as keeper of the peace, which didn't need oratory so much as patience.

President Johnson talks a lot, either to newsmen trotting around his rose garden after him or on television. But his memorable words are few. Only three come easily, to mind: "The great society."

Not Literary Type

His speeches have lacked literary excellence. Some times even when he is most intense, he dilutes the intensity with homely touches, like references to "my little office" or his Texas boyhood.

And even when he explained sending troops into the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam he made no appeal to national emotion for it was not his intention to arouse but to reassure, which is how Eisenhower operated.

Johnson, as a figure in history, will probably be remembered, like Truman, more for what he does, or doesn't do, than for what he says.

President Kennedy, a much more fastidious phrase-maker, might have reached great heights as a speaker if in his time the country had had to endure great and prolonged crises. But it didn't.

His speeches, particularly the most idealistic ones, like his inaugural address, were so obviously worked over they often looked self-conscious, which made them harder to absorb than Churchill's or Roosevelt's. Those two used a simpler touch that lay closer to the skin of experience.

French President Charles de Gaulle, master of language and elegant these past 25 years when he chose to be, hardly talks in public any more, spreading his news conferences and public addresses far apart. The French people of today seem placid. And De Gaulle is letting them stay that way.

Khrushchev, the most bouncy, ebullient, talkative, performing world leader of these past 30 years, is stone-silent now, shoved aside last October.

His two successors — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Party Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev — are like a couple of quiet butlers in a Soviet party.

But in the almost 10 years he did his act on the world stage Khrushchev was watched and listened to, whether he was banging his shoe on a desk at the United Nations or acting as funeral director for capitalism when he told it, "We will bury you."

Sounds Milk Warning

VERNON, N.Y. (AP)—Unless the area covered by a milk marketing order is expanded some New York and New Jersey markets may become a dumping ground for surplus milk, a dairy-farmer cooperative has warned the federal government.

The 115 members of the House of Delegates of the Northeast Dairy Cooperative Federation petitioned U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman Thursday to nearly triple the area covered by the so-called federal marketing order 2.

Probe Club Break

A break in at the Callabar Club on Linderman Avenue Extension is under investigation. The clubhouse was entered some time Thursday and the place ransacked. Louis Minkler, caretaker, reported the entrance to John Schultz who notified the sheriff's office. Entrance was gained by forcing the rear door. Seventeen cases of soda were reported taken. The break in took place some time Thursday afternoon. Deputy Sheriff Bernard Ellsworth conducted an investigation and the matter is being further investigated by County Investigator Thomas Mayone.

Briggs to Fight Extradition to N.Y. on Charges

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Norman Briggs, who disappeared in 1960 while SCUBA diving near here and reappeared recently as a Wyoming cowboy, was free today on $1,000 bond in Wyoming and has promised to fight extradition here to face two charges.

Briggs, 33, who has been using the name of Clayton Hollister was indicted by the Rensselaer County Grand Jury on charges of insurance fraud and abandonment of his two children.

He surrendered voluntarily Thursday to the sheriff in Newcastle, Wyo. At a preliminary hearing, he refused to waive extradition and was released on bond posted by his employer, ranch-owner Kenneth Adkins.

A hearing was set for June 30 in Newcastle.

Briggs disappeared in July 1960. His former wife, now Mrs. Earl Koenig, collected $120,000 in life insurance. Since his reappearance she reportedly has repaid about $71,000.

The former Mrs. Briggs was remarried last summer shortly after obtaining a divorce in Alabama. At the time she made application for the divorce, she listed her husband as "living."

TV Reviews, Best Bets

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks, once again, are gripped with space fever, a competitive desire to outdo the others in covering the journeys of the astronauts.

The four-day Gemini shot is scheduled for next Thursday morning and the television audience will receive its briefings earlier in special programs of all networks. NBC's "G-T4 Preview" will come on Tuesday night (9-10 EDT) while CBS' "Gemini Preview" follows on Wednesday night (8-8:30 EDT).

As does ABC's "Preview" on its "Scope" program (10:30-11). On launch day, all networks will start their coverage at 7 a.m., about two hours before the planned takeoff.

It is expected that all of the networks will stay with the story at least until 11 a.m., and longer if circumstances warrant. ABC, for instance, does not know — and will not — whether it will stay on the story for one orbit or three before returning to regular programming.

As usual, basic coverage of the launching is a prestige operation by the three networks, with each assigning its top news staff men to reporting the running story and filling in the dull moments with assorted interviews and demonstrations. NBC will show the takeoff in color.

Once the Gemini-Titan mission is whirling around the globe, all networks plan hourly reports on its progress, plus more thorough updating during all news programs. In addition, each network will have a 15-minute special program nightly from 11:15 to 11:30 (EDT).

For the first time, a TV pool representative will be permitted to travel in the rescue helicopter when it goes to the astronauts after the Monday morning splashdown, so recovery pictures will be received sooner than before.

Petrus Heads Tillson P-TA; Reports Given

New officers were elected and installed at the final meeting of the Tillson Parent-Teacher Association Monday night at the school.

President is Joseph Petrus. Other officers are William Conway, vice president; Mrs. Edward Klepeis, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Rowe Jr., secretary. Mrs. Eugene Scray, outgoing vice president, was installing officer. Nominating committee was headed by Mrs. Robert Morrow.

A report was presented on the recent play. The P-TA realized a profit of $240. William Conway extended thanks to all who helped make this fund raising activity a financially sound success.

Mrs. John Power reported on the planned retirement dinner in honor of Mrs. Raymond Craft and Paul Newkirk. The dinner will be held at the Beekman Arms June 10. Tickets are available from Mrs. Power or Ernest Hopper.

A film entitled Rescue Breathing followed. Refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

Memorial Plans Listed by Legion

The annual Memorial Services for the Rosendale-Tillson Post 1219 of the American Legion will be held Sunday, May 30 at St. Peter's Church in Rosendale at the 9 o'clock Mass.

All legionnaires and members of the Ladies Auxiliary are requested to meet at St. Peter's Church at 8:45 a. m. All veterans in the area may attend regardless of Legion membership. The annual Memorial Day parade will start at the Tillson Firehouse at 10 a. m. Monday, May 31.

Smut Literature Film Is Shown; Torroca Speaker

More than 75 persons attended the showing of the film, Perversion for Profit and heard important and timely remarks by J. P. Torroca, district attorney of Ulster County Sunday in the Tillson Firehouse. A discussion from the floor followed his remarks.

The film, shown by the Rosendale Committee for Decent Literature, dealt with the large volume increase and the greater degree of perversion in magazines and paperbacks available at retail outlets and the real and potential effect upon young people. The film stressed that "Cesspool Publications" are big business and that the only effective way to combat the proliferation of this material is through an aroused citizenry.

Mr. Torroca spoke in detail on the problems of restricting the "Cesspool Material" so that teenagers do not have easy access to it. He also pointed out that there are certain extenuating circumstances in that retailers are sometimes unable to refuse to merchandise indecent literature. Retailers and local citizens, using common sense, should be able to get together to work out an effective solution whereby minors are protected as much as possible. Ultimate responsibility for the teenagers lies with the parents, he said.

The floor discussion highlighted the point that the Rosendale Committee and Mr. Torroca were not on a "witch hunt" or attempting to dictate to the public what they should read, but wanted all concerned to use good judgment to remove this "Cesspool Material" from children and teenagers.

Mr. Torroca concluded the meeting by thanking the committee for inviting him to speak on the subject.

St. Peter's Notes

The St. Peter's School Association held a meeting recently. After reports were given by various committees a trip of the eighth grade students was discussed. The trip is scheduled in June. A pound auction was held followed by refreshments. A cake sale scheduled for May 29 has been canceled.

Delay in Aging Process Hinted

Prolonging Life Not Acceptable to All

NEW YORK (AP) — A variety of reaction ranging from "great," to "contrary to nature," and "highly unlikely" came today from both young and old after a pathologist suggested that science might someday delay the aging process.

Dr. Robert R. Kohn, a pathologist at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, says "there's no theoretical reason why we should not be able to keep people as they are at age 20 to 30 for another 40 years."

"Assuming society would want it," added Kohn. He offered the theory that aging is a normal disease and conceivably susceptible to being inhibited by chemical or other means.

Torre, Lloyd for It

Some indicated they would want it, such as baseball catcher Joe Torre, 24, of the Milwaukee Braves, who said, "It would be great," and Harold Lloyd, a comedian who starred in the silent-picture era, who remarked, "I'm all for it."

Others indicated they would prefer to let nature take its own course.

Marilyn Wahl, 21, a Los Angeles airline stewardess, said: "I don't think I'd like it. There are rewards in growing older and maturing. There's pros and cons — growing old with your children and enjoying some of the things they do. But there's something wonderful about maturing. Being twice as long, the 20-to-30 age bracket wouldn't be quite as enjoyable."

A Dallas lawyer who is approaching 80 said, "There is no need to speculate about remaining 20 to 30. That is contrary to nature, the Bible and the Lord's decree."

Different Reaction

Ann Bittner, 47, a Chicago television assembly-line supervisor, and Dr. Bonnie Strickland, 26, dean of women at Emory University, reacted differently.

"I think people from 20 to 30 are dying faster than older folks or they soon will be," said Mrs. Bittner. "The reason is they live too fast. Bad diets and carelessness with their health in general puts them in bad shape. Why make more people get into bad shape by keeping them at a careless age?"

Dr. Strickland, one of the youngest women deans in the country, said prolonging life between the ages of 20 and 30 "would be wonderful — if you were able to continually mature."

"Youth without wisdom and knowledge would have no advantage," she added.

Dr. John Knowles, 39, general director and physician at the Massachusetts General Hospital and lecturer at the Harvard Medical School, opined: "The process of aging and death is inexorable and inevitable."

Notes Suicides

Bill Ingram, 21, a Dallas college student, said he would like to stay 20 forever, but "some people can't cope with life and probably prefer death — look at the suicides."

Ingram said he agreed with a statement by Dr. Bernice L. Neugarten, of the University of Chicago, who said: "The assumption is unproven that people would like to live longer than they now do — or that they would be better off if they did."

Drs. Neugarten and Kohn made their comments Wednesday in Washington at a conference on research progress and trends in aging sponsored by the National Institutes of Health.

Kohn defined aging as "a normal biological process with onset sometime around maturity." He suggested it's primarily due to progressive changes in "collagen," a chemical occurring in the connective tissue outside the body cells.

The Fifth Rose: where is it?

Not on the label. To be sure. But in the bottle. In a new kind of taste for whiskey. A good taste. Not just smoother or lighter. Not just blander or milder. But good. Actually, honestly good.

That's our Fifth Rose—the great new taste of Four Roses. At long last, a taste you don't just say you like—but really like.

Based on previous experience, this may come as a surprise to you. If so, it will be a mighty pleasant one. The more so because this good-tasting whiskey is so surprisingly reasonable to sample.

The fact is, Four Roses doesn't cost any more any more. Not one penny more.

So now, there's no reason in the world why you shouldn't buy Four Roses. 315 619 499 FIFTH

A great new taste deserves a great new bottle, don't you agree?

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, May 28, the 148th day of 1965. There are 217 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1754, George Washington, then 22, received his baptism of fire in the battle of Great Meadows, near what is now Pittsburgh. It marked the beginning of the French and Indian War.

On this date In 1866, the 4th Wisconsin Cavalry Regiment was mustered out of service after five years and one day. It was the longest term on record for a volunteer organization. In 1940, the evacuation of Dunkerque began. In 1945, U.S. Superforts made their first raid on Yokohama, Japan.

Ten years ago—British Railway locomotive engineers and firemen went on strike for higher pay.

Five years ago—A military junta headed by Lt. Gen. Cemal Gursel formed a temporary government for Turkey.

One year ago—Thousands of Indians jammed New Delhi streets as the body of Prime Minister Nehru was borne to the banks of the Jumna River for cremation.

Sawkill Dance To Benefit CP

A Happiness Dance will be held Saturday night, at the Sawkill Firehouse for the benefit of United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County.

Mrs. Thomas Malone, town chairman for the CP Fund Drive for the Town of Kingston has announced that this dance will take the place of a house-to-house campaign. The Country Three, led by Clarence Overbaugh, will play music for all to dance to. Dancing will be 9-1. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Thomas Malone and Mrs. Douglas Dye, co-chairmen of the dance, assisted by the Mmes. John O'Keefe, William Ferguson, John Duffy, and William McColgan invite all to attend. The Sawkill Firehouse is in the center of Sawkill, seven miles from Kingston on the Sawkill Road.

Snuggle to Cash Register

NEW YORK (AP) — Without counting profits from the sale of its movie rights, "Hello, Dolly!" has thus far netted earnings of a half million dollars. Under the film deal, the musical reportedly gets $2 million, plus a percentage after picture costs have been covered. Forty per cent of this sum is shared by producer David Merrick and his backers; the balance goes to the authors.

HCL Makes Biggest Jump Since July

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs rose three-tenths of one per cent in April, the biggest monthly jump since last July, the Labor Department has reported.

Increases in the cost of food, clothing, transportation and medical care boosted the consumer price index to 109.3, a new high.

This figure means that in April it cost $10.93 to purchase typical goods that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

The increase was the largest for an April since 1960. Asked if the rise was unusual, Deputy Asst. Commissioner Sidney A. Jaffe of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said:

"It's a little out of balance, but not tremendously."

Led by price rises in fresh fruits and vegetables, the index of food prices equaled the all-time peak of 107.3 set in September, 1964. This was an increase of four-tenths of one per cent over March.

Average weekly earnings of factory workers dropped about $1.25 in April because of a cutback in overtime work. But average hourly earnings of $2.60 remained at an all-time high for the second straight month.

Averages weekly after-tax earnings of a factory worker with three dependents were $95.12 and for a worker without dependents $87.50.

Purchasing Power Drops

Because of the drop in earnings and the rise in prices, factory workers' purchasing power dropped about 1.5 per cent.

Jaffe said there was no evidence that a Labor Department program to replace Mexican workers with U.S. workers in farm harvesting had any effect on the increase in food prices.

The April consumer price index was 1.4 per cent higher than a year ago.

The bureau has said in the past that a yearly price rise of 1.2 per cent was within noninflationary bounds.

Asked whether the April rise indicated a possible inflationary trend, Jaffe said:

"I wouldn't place too much significance on any one month. We'll have to see what happens the rest of the year."

He said much of the April rise was in food and gasoline, which he described as "highly volatile" commodities in which price gains could be reversed quickly and easily.

Intern Method Is Topic at NYSTA Meeting

Closer cooperation between public schools and teachers colleges was urged by a panel of college professors speaking at a dinner meeting of teachers of the Southeastern Zone of the New York State Teachers Association at the State University College at New Paltz Wednesday night.

The conference on the internship program in teachers preparation was jointly sponsored by the teacher education committee and the classroom teachers council of the teachers association.

Dr. David Purpel, director of programs in teaching at Harvard University Graduate School was main speaker. He described the internship program at Harvard and stressed that internship is very different from the familiar student-teacher program. The interned is hired by the school district at half pay and teaches one half a normal class load. He is also taking courses leading to the master's degree and is jointly guided by college professors and the department chairman in the school where he teaches.

Dr. Purpel said that the success of the program requires co-operating schools with highly competent department chairmen who are given adequate time to guide the individual development of the intern teacher and who work closely with college officials.

A panel of professors who direct internship programs in other colleges explained the operation of their programs. These included Dr. Charles Radbeck of Adelphi; Dr. Dean Corrigan of the University of Rochester and Dr. Robert Shostak of the State University of New York at Albany.

The panelists agreed that a good internship program would cost money because the school must be willing to provide qualified supervisors who will have time to work closely with the intern. "The school will benefit from this because only top candidates are admitted to the internship program and the quality of teaching will be greatly improved."

Chairman of the committees that planned the conference were Mrs. Clara Liess of Pine Bush Central School and Mrs. Marjorie Glenn of New Paltz Central School. Dr. Frederick Bunt, director of student teaching at New Paltz was moderator.

Now Manages Rudolph Store

A former Utica man, Irwin O. Miller, has been appointed manager of the local Rudolph Jewelry store, 294 Wall Street.

Miller, a veteran of five years with the Kay Jewelers in Utica, is now residing at 61 East Chester Street with his wife, the former Arlette Brill of Utica, and his three children.

The new manager saw service in the U. S. Air Force in World War 2, and was appointed to the managership of the local store upon the merger of the Rudolph and Kay Jewelry store chains.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Most people can be fairly indifferent to a rise in the price of basic metals. But let the price of food go up and the debate over the possibility of another burst of inflation commands instant attention.

And that debate is warming up.

Several Factors Cited

The climb in food prices can be traced to several things: weather damage to crops, shortages of temporary farm laborers, cutbacks in cattle herds and the hog population, and greater consumption by a growing and affluent population. Even though they command the most attention, the ups and downs of food prices are a fairly common phenomenon.

What's raising the question of inflation in general is the steady if slow rise in industrial prices in many fields. And this is feeding the debate over whether the economy is or isn't in danger of overheating.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, says it isn't, so far. But he finds the recent rash of price increases disturbing and warns they might lead to government countermeasures if business doesn't moderate the trend voluntarily.

This would be in line with the government's guidelines for prices and wages tied to productivity gains that keep unit production costs stable.

Must Watch Trend

William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, warns that the economy is close to the edge of overheating and fiscal authorities must watch that trend carefully.

By overheating the authorities mean the step that turns business expansion into a boom. The four-year-old expansion has meant greater prosperity without excesses either in price increases or wage boosts.

Boom implies a rush of overconfidence that carries with it a wage-price spiral. In the past this has undermined the market value of the dollar. And boom also implies a future bust.

The debate over inflation goes beyond the industrial price increases which Ackley says seems to be accelerating. He lists tires, stainless steel products, sulfuric acid, trucks, paper containers, polyethylene resins, aluminum products, copper, and fabricated copper products.

And pointing a finger at business pricing policies, Ackley sees no evidence that excess demand is furnishing any inflationary pressure. Nor are labor shortages plaguing most industries.

The inflation debate goes also into the government's fiscal policies. And this may be why federal officials are becoming so vocal in denying that overheating is a threat. On the contrary, they contend, a relaxing of the upward rate of climb is more likely.

Change of Thinking

The fiscal policies include tax cuts even while the federal debt is rising and the Treasury deficit continues each year. They also include keeping interest rates low and credit easy so that economic expansion can be financed. And along with it goes a rise in spending by federal, state and local governments.

Past thinking held such policies to be laying the foundation for future inflation. Present fiscal thinking is that these policies make the economy grow fast enough to offset any such threat. Basically the question is the role of government in plotting and controlling economic trends.

But at the practical rather than the theoretical level—that is, for the consumer rather than the economist or monetary authority—the threat of inflation doesn't lie in the rise of prices of sulfuric acid and polyethylene resins, but in costlier trips to the food stores.

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?

If you take vitamins and still feel tired, your trouble may be due to iron-poor blood. Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! Because just two GERITOL tablets, or two tablespoons of liquid GERITOL contain 7 vitamins plus twice the iron in 1-lb. of calves' liver.

In only one day GERITOL-iron is in your bloodstream beginning to carry strength and energy to every part of your body. Check with your doctor and if you've been feeling tired because of iron-poor blood, take GERITOL, liquid or tablets, every day. You'll feel stronger fast in just 7 days or money back from GERITOL.

We still let nature make the beer.

Nature makes Utica Club Beer.

And it's time credit was given where credit's due. Oh sure, we supervise and sample, taste and test Utica Club. But nature's the real star.

Utica Club Beer is brewed from the harvest. Only nature's choice whole grains go into our beer... never syrups or extracts. Also, a little bit of rice is added to Utica Club. Rice gives it a unique lightness, without sacrificing a bit of its natural flavor.

And Utica Club is aged for months, not just weeks. This extra aging lets nature do two wonderful things to our beer. It makes its own carbonation this way — natural bubbles, like the ones you find in champagne. Secondly, aging gives the beer that extra time it needs to mellow itself and smooth out the rough spots.

Letting nature make the beer takes more time, of course. But one mugful will tell you it's worth every minute of it...and why we'd be fools not to take credit for it.

We still let nature make the beer...because that's the way you like it.

REMOVING GUESTS' PLATES

Q: When we have people in to dinner and after two or three of the guests have finished eating, my wife has a habit of removing their plates while the others are still eating. I think this is very rude to the guests who like to eat slowly and by her doing this, she forces them to gulp their food so as not to hold up the others. Shouldn't she wait until all have finished the course before removing the plates?

A: You are quite right. Your wife should not hurry those who like to eat leisurely by removing any plates until everyone has finished eating.

Iris Show Will Open June 5 in Scotia; An Annual Event

Members of garden clubs in the area will be interested to learn that the Capital-Hudson Area Iris Show will open Saturday, June 5 at the Glenville Town Hall, 127 Mohawk Avenue, Scotia. The theme is "Reflection — Now and Then." Show hours will be from 1:30-8 p. m.

General chairman Mrs. Henry W. Blenis of Ravena has announced that exhibition privilege at the show is open to everyone. All irises to be shown must be named, labeled and grown by the exhibitor. It is not necessary to enter the newer varieties of irises, as the show committee points out, it is the old favorite standbys which capture the ribbons at such a show. Entries for competition must be brought to the Glenville Town Hall from 8:30 to 11 a. m. on June 5.

Information on the classes of specimen stalks of tall bearded, median, Siberian, species and seedlings irises may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Henry W. Blenis, Ravena; Mrs. Herbert Laidlaw, RD 2, Amsterdam; Herman Story, Freehold; or Dr. Irwin I. Conroe, 42 Font Grove Road, Slingerlands, N. Y.

The artistic section will feature the following classes. One, "The Charm of Williamsburg," an arrangement in the traditional 18th century manner. Two, "Gold Rush Days," a class, a composition depicting this era. Three, "Fifty Stars," a composition depicting any state added during the 20th century. Give state and date. Four, "Iris—2000 A. D.," an arrangement in the abstract manner.

Each class is limited to five entries. Arrangement space is 30 inches high, 24 inches wide and 18 inches deep. Iris must predominate in all classes, although other live plant material may be used.

The Capital-Hudson Area iris show, an annual event, has been

Dear Abby . . . It Ain't Proper!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently attended a very lovely dinner party at the home of a friend who always does things just so. Dinner was announced and we all went to the table to find our places. The hostess had place cards. When one lady discovered she was seated next to her own husband, she said loudly, "I don't have to go to party to sit next to HIM." The hostess immediately switched a few place cards so that the couple was split up. What do you think of such a performance on the part of a guest? And aren't married couples supposed to sit next to each other at dinner parties?

MILANDER

DEAR MILANDER: There is no set rule about seating married couples at an at-home dinner party. But guests should sit where the hostess seats them. And those who complain about the seating arrangement could find themselves sitting home.

DEAR ABBY: Our nine-year-old son is ruining our vacation plans. We have four other children and he is the only one who has ever given us any trouble. We planned to take a house on the beach for the last two weeks in July, but Danny refuses to go. We can't go without him, and we can't leave him home alone. He says he will "do something" and get sent to a reformatory, or run away to an orphanage, but he will not go with the family to the beach. We can't use physical force to get him in the car and we can't strap him in and lock him up so he won't run away. Can you help us?

WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR WORRIED: If you are actually "worried" about the threats of a nine-year-old to "do something" for which he will be sent to a reformatory, or "run away," you have something to worry about. Your son has you where he wants you. His behavior is a symptom of a deeper emotional problem. Take him to a child psychologist and find out why this child rebels against authority. And learn how to cope with it.

Contest for Handmade Quilts

Hundreds of handmade quilts from Maine to Texas will pour into the Pennsylvania Folklife Society offices, Kutztown, Pa., to be entered in the Society's first Quilting Contest, offered this year as a feature of the 16th Annual Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival, July 3-10.

If you or your organization has a handmade quilt, and you would like to enter it in the contest and sell it at the fair as part of a fund raising project, here is an opportunity to do so.

Quilts will be received at the Pennsylvania Folklife Society, 218 West Main Street, Kutztown, Pa., from June 14 to July 2—put on exhibition in a large new pavilion and judged on July 3rd, opening day of the Festival.

All entries, prize winners, will be offered for sale with proceeds going to the individuals or organizations entering the quilts in the contest.

When announcement of the contest was issued early in the spring, a woman from Georgia wrote: "I have five patchwork quilts designed and started by my grandmother which my mother and I have enjoyed completing through the years."

From New Hampshire came another note: "I'm bringing two quilts to Kutztown which contain materials from every state of the nation. I call them my 'All American Patchwork'."

The Pennsylvania Folklife Society is holding the contest to help revive this nostalgic needlework once so popular in rural America and now continued as a popular past-time among the Pennsylvania Dutch Plain states. There will be four classes in the Festival's contest—pieced patchwork, embroidered and all quilted. Three cash prizes will be awarded in each category, plus elaborate trophies and a grand prize.

Mrs. Jonas Good of New Holland, Pa., one of the outstanding quilt designers in the Pennsylvania Dutch area will bring several hundred of her creative quilts to the Folk Festival at Kutztown—from her popular "Double Wedding Ring" design to her new "Hex Sign."

Taught by her mother and grandmother, Mrs. Good started making quilts before she went to school. Now a grandmother many times over, she is one of the few women who continues to hold regular quilting parties in her home.

If you are interested, write to: Quilting Contest, Pennsylvania Folklife Society, 218 West Main Street, Kutztown, Pa.

Mid-Hudson Chapter For Early Childhood Education Planned

Mrs. Boyd Campbell, president of the New York State Association for the Education of Young Children, has proposed that a Mid-Hudson Chapter of the Association be formed. The need and obligation for professional people in this field to work together to maintain the highest standard is urgent with present interest and activity at the Early Childhood level snowballing.

An exploratory meeting will be held on Monday evening, May 31st at 8 p. m. at the Fair Street Nursery School, 209 Fair Street, Kingston, N. Y. Speakers, besides Mrs. Campbell, will be Dr. Josephine Palmer, professor of education, New Paltz and Dr. Dorothy Levens, director of the Vassar College Nursery School. Their topic will be Equalizing Educational Opportunities for Young Children.

A Tri-County Chapter of the Association was formerly in existence, which included Ulster, Dutchess and Rockland Counties. Distances, however, proved to be too great for convenient meeting, and Rockland County now has an independent organization. Membership in such a chapter, besides offering the advantages of professional association, entitles the member to two excellent publications, The Young Child, and The New York State News.

This meeting is open to all who are professionally interested in the education of young children.

John Dudyk, Mrs. James Fowell, Mrs. Thomas Benicase, Mrs. Albert Ashdown, Mrs. Edward Smith, Mrs. Wilber Williams, Mrs. Viva Crawford, Mrs. Kenneth Bullion, Mrs. Edward Marks, Mrs. Carol Linden, Mrs. Bonny Plough and Mrs. Janet Ockerman.

ELECTED TO SERVE CHURCH GROUP—Steering activities for St. James Woman's Society of Christian Service will be (l-r) Mrs. Howard Finger, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Pixley, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Winchell, re-elected vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Maher, re-

HONORED FOR SCOUT WORK—Among those attending a testimonial dinner honoring Mrs. Frank Graney for 25 years of Girl Scout work Thursday night at St. Mary's Hall are (seated) Mrs. Kenneth Martin, executive director of the Ulster County Girl Scout Council; Mrs. Graney, Mr. Graney, and Mrs. Joseph

Kain, chairman; (standing) the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, Mrs. Charles Kinkade and the Rev. Nicholas Mosonic. Approximately 160 persons attended the event including the Rev. John Drew, Maryknoll missionary, and girls of Mrs. Graney's original troop. (Freeman photo by Wagenföhr)

St. Mary's Leader Honored for Years Of Scout Service

A surprise testimonial dinner was given Thursday night at St. Mary's Hall for Mrs. Frank Graney who has served the Girl Scout organization for 25 years.

One-hundred-sixty persons attended the silver anniversary celebration in one of the largest turnouts for any one person in the parish.

The Rev. Nicholas Mosonic said grace before the dinner. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly introduced Mrs. Kenneth Martin, executive director of the Ulster County Girl Scout Council, who related several humorous incidents in scouting with Mrs. Graney and gave a sincere tribute to a great and useful woman who has fostered the "creative ability and individuality" in the youngsters under her guidance. "She has instilled appreciation of nature and beauty" and has been an inspiration to the Girl Scouts who will be the mothers and citizens of tomorrow.

Mrs. Martin presented Mrs. Graney with her own personal "friendship" pin which had originally been given to her by a professional scout from California. A flag presentation was made to Mrs. Graney by Patricia Harrison on behalf of the Scout Troop of St. Mary's.

The friends present gave Mrs. Graney a check for a trip to Bermuda in appreciation for all she has done. The presentation was made by Peggy Graney, her granddaughter. A humorous award, a home-made "purple heart," made by Mrs. Salvatore Romano, was given to Mr. Graney by his grandson, Robert, in reparation for the neglect in past years due to Girl Scouting.

Besides Mrs. Graney's two grandchildren, her son, Robert, and his wife, Jacqueline, were also present. The girls from her original troop were also in attendance. The Rev. John Drew and the "Horse Club" presented her with a horseshoe of pink and red carnations. Father Drew, who is home from his missions, compared the communistic attitude in molding children's minds to the patience which is used in this country to teach children to appreciate what is "good, true and beautiful." He summed up his talk by reading an article called, "Quiet Truth" from the Reader's Digest, that told all that was necessary in life is to humbly do the best we can which, he concluded, was the story of Mrs. Graney's life.

Mrs. Graney spoke briefly, expressing her thanks and appreciation. She said the "last 25 years were the happiest of her life." She thanked the committee and all those who worked with her throughout the past years.

Members of the banquet committee included the Mmes. Albert Wolf, Joseph Kain, Salvatore Romano, William Gully, Thomas Stenson, Henry Bailey and Charles Kinkade.

Buffalo Hockey Player Is MVP

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Center Art Stratton, the play-making star of the Buffalo Bisons and the leading scorer of the American Hockey League, was named Thursday the AHL's most valuable player for the 1964-65 season.

The 29-year-old Winnipeg native, a near unanimous choice for the league's All-Star team, will receive the Les Cunningham Plaque and $300.

In the voting by the writers and broadcasters in the AHL cities, Stratton received 29 of a possible 45 points. Rochester's Al Arbour, the AHL's outstanding defenseman, was second with 14 points.

Stratton won the league scoring crown with 109 points on 25 goals and 84 assists. The six-foot, 185-pounder centered a high-scoring line that had Len Lunde and Pat Hannigan on the wings. Lunde was the league's top scorer with 50 goals while Hannigan finished his best season ever with 38 goals and 92 points.

Andy Wood Gives Only Five Hits To Record Win

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Andy Wood hurled a strong five-hitter and the Sawyers of Saugerties High clinched at least a tie for the DCSL baseball title with a clutch, 2-0, decision yesterday over Wappingers Falls at the SHS diamond.

The triumph enables the Sawyers to sit back and await the results of today's Arlington game at Beacon. If the Beacoonites win, then Saugerties will have the title all to itself. If Arlington triumphs, the clubs will battle at 2:30 Saturday afternoon at Riverview field for the championship.

Wood was given two runs in the second inning and he made them stand up. He survived a bases loaded threat in the third and was in complete command of the situation the rest of the way.

Sperl Hits Triple
Art Sperl greeted loser Steve Contursi with a long triple to start the second. At this point, the rains came and play was halted for five minutes.

When action was resumed, Contursi retired Wood on a short fly to right. Rich Greco then delivered a double, scoring Sperl. Frank Serravallo struck out but Gordon Freilich walked, putting two runners on base.

Contursi uncorked a couple of wild pitches, scoring Greco and ending his tenure on the mound. Jim Martin relieved, stopped the threat and hurled shutout ball the rest of the way.

Tough Situation
Wood was in deep trouble in the third. A pair of hits and a walk clogged the sacks with one out. Shortstop Bruce Owens pegged a runner out at home on an infield roller and the next batter tapped to the mound, ending the threat.

The Sawyers are now 15-3 for the season and show eight straight victories. If they win circuit honors, they will play next Tuesday against the small school winner in the DCSL.

There's no doubt who coach Pete Kramer and his boys will be rooting for this afternoon at Beacon.

Men's Club Stops Friendly Inn, 20-1

Southside Men's Club scored 12 times in the fifth inning and coasted to a 20-1 win over Friendly Inn in a Saugerties Softball league game.

The winners pounded out 15 hits with the big blow being a bases loaded triple by Don Minkler. Catcher Vince Ferraro scored five runs for the Men's Club.

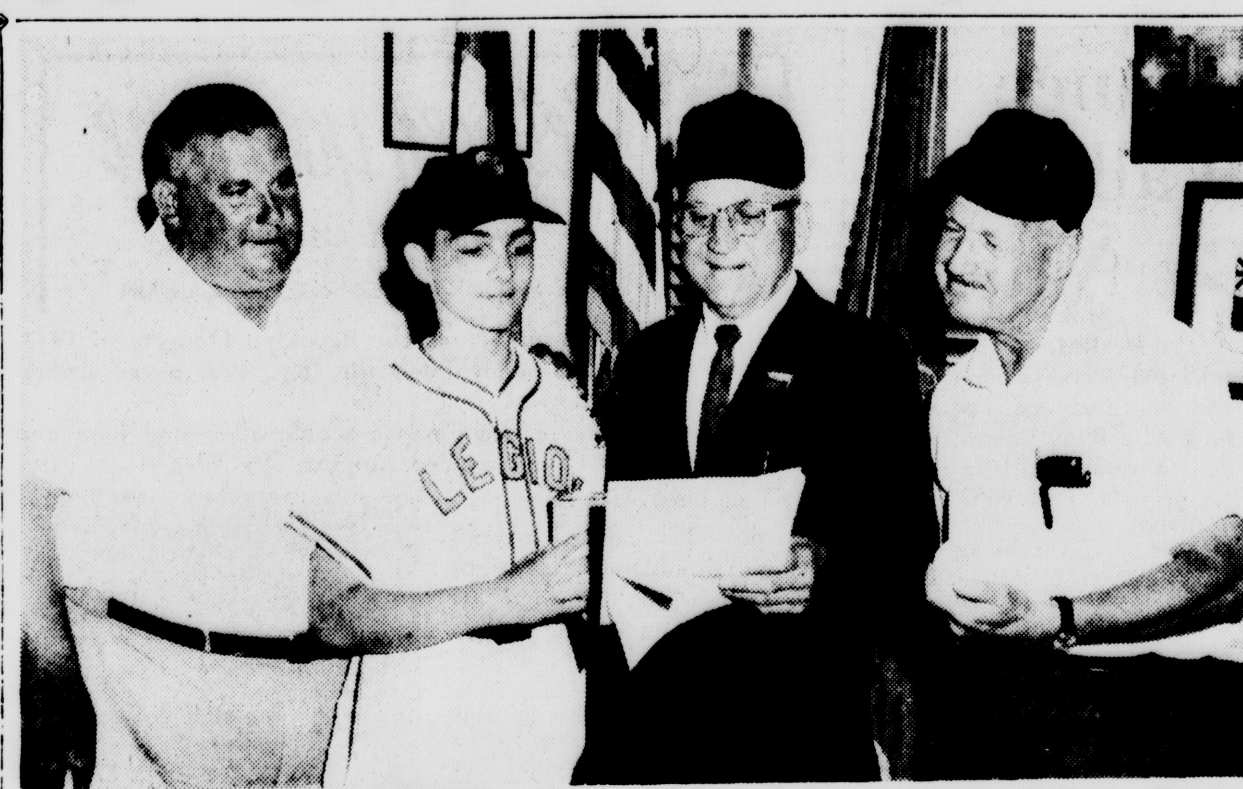

Bob Myer doubled and John Freilich and Bob Mignano tripled during the encounter. John Freilich went the distance to record the win, his first against one setback. Sam Tesoriero lost his third straight.

Schussler Rolls 703

3 Brothers Egg Farms Invitational Champs

Trailing Smith-Parish Roofing by one and one half games going into Thursday night's final session of the Invitational Classic, the Three Brothers Egg Farms keglers swept three from the leaders to take the 1964-65 championship in a story book finish.

Powered by Bob Schlightner's 676, the Egg Farms won the crucial game sets: 950-884, 1033-961 and 1014-934 for a 2997 series.

Schlightner fired 216, 224, 236 in the anchor slot. Other team members contributed: Mike Goldberg 593, George Glaser 584, Lou Porsi 528, Al Wood 616.

Schussler Raps 703
Tim Schussler, middle man for Augustine Insurance, took scoring honors for the final night with 703 on lines of 200, 256 and 247 on lanes 21-22.

Several other impressive scores were turned in. Chet Herringshaw bombed 279-636 and Gary Barnes had 268. Cablevision powered 1102-3067 and Augustine's rapped 3015.

The scores:
Smith-Parish Roofing (0) — Reuter 201-540, F. Weishaupt 201, 203-569; B. Weishaupt 574, Shufeldt 575; 884, 961, 934-2779.

Rock Construction (1) — Manfro 210-571, Cook 225-571, Kearney 204-566, Battaglia 212, 203-600; Pulcastro 238-554; 954, 924, 1020-2898.

Among the other two-under-par 69 shooters Claude King is 45th in winnings, Joe Campbell is 54th and Doug Ford is 55th. Art Wall has won only $5,062.50, and Joe Kirkwood Jr., an infrequent trophy contender, is not listed.

Top-money man Jack Nicklaus did not enter the tournament.

Doug Sanders, second in earnings this year, withdrew on the 17th hole because of a thumb injury. He was four over par for the distance, including a 9 on the 12th hole.

Greentree, chosen as the site for this year's tournament because the Speedway Course is being rebuilt, plays harder than Speedway.

Those who had trouble included Gary Player of Australia, who won last year with 273 but shot a 73 for the first round Thursday.

Peterson Raps 621
Jim Peterson rapped 621, with 211, 225, 185 in the Hilltop Mixed League; team results: Stuyvesant Barber Shop 2, Snyder's Soft Water Service 1; Perry's Motors 0, Alpine Restaurant 3; Hudson Valley Explosives 2, Ulster Aquarium 1.

Traditional Golf Openers Over Memorial Day Weekend

GUESS WHO?

THIS PRESENT day New York restaurant owner was once involved in the most controversial 10 seconds in sports history. He was born in Colorado in a small town that later became part of his nickname.

Pioneers Beat Port Nine, 3-2

Poughkeepsie overcame a 2-0 deficit to nip visiting Port Jervis, 3-2, yesterday and keep alive its DUSO pennant hopes.

In another game, Newburgh Free Academy had a 4-0 lead over Middletown when rain halted the proceedings. The contest may be replayed today.

Standings:	W	L

Poughkeepsie	5	2
Newburgh	3	2
Port Jervis	2	5
Middletown	0	6

Port scored a run in the first and another in the second but was whitewashed by the relief hurling of Fred Johnson from the third inning.

Poughkeepsie tallied a marker in each of the final three frames to beat Jim McCooley. Rich Lawrence drove in the clincher with a single.

Lodges Excel In Bridge Play

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Lodge of Port Ewen posted a 62 per cent game to lead the East-West side of the Glenbridge Bridge Club's monthly Master Point game.

Mrs. John Olivet and Dorothy Maroon of Kingston led the North-South with 58½ per cent.

The runners-up were: North-South: Mrs. Harold Rakov (Kingston) and Dr. Paul Perlman (Woodstock), 58 per cent; Mrs. Eleanor Hogan-Mrs. C. Russell Edwards (Kingston), 53½ per cent; Arthur Schiff-Robert Suda (Kingston), 52 per cent.

East-West: Charles Rice-Perry Bunyar (Saugerties), 61½ per cent; Joseph Mautner-Michael Korol (Kingston), 58½ per cent; Mrs. Eleanor Triller-Harry Thayer (Kingston), 57½ per cent.

A fractional point game is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Bridge Studio on Fair Street.

Wiltwyck Sets Member-Member Best-Ball Event

BY CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

That traditional opening of the golf season—the Memorial Day weekend—finds all three area clubs engaged in tournaments.

Wiltwyck Country Club, where tournaments are a way of life, has scheduled a 36-hole Member-Member Best-Ball for the three-day weekend. Members may play two 18-hole rounds on any two of the three days.

A Flag tournament will be played Monday.

Woodstock Country Club has three consecutive 18-hole tournaments starting with a Beat The Pro competition Saturday. A Flag tournament is scheduled Sunday, followed by National Golf Day Monday.

Male members of the club will compete with handicap against a round to be played by club professional Jim Hutchins. He will play in a foursome with club president, Floyd H. DeWitt and Anthony J. de Lizio, chairman of the men's golf committee.

Twoalfskill men have a Flag tournament on Saturday.

National Golf Day is scheduled Monday and area pros will conduct tournaments either separately or in conjunction with other activity.

Twenty Four Teams

Twenty four tandems have signed for the Wiltwyck Best-Ball event. Teams need not play with other teams in the tournament but must play with other golfers who will attest the scorecard.

The pairings are: John Hall (12), Jack Goldstein (19); John Turk (9), Marty Kantor (14); Bill Kaufman (3), Lincoln Christensen (13); Charles J. Turk (4), Bob Powers (12); Ken Brown (12), Jerry Gruberg (13).

Dr. George C. Rifenburg (11), Ed Martin (17); W. C. McCullen (4), Charles Spiesman (24); O. D. Ingalls (9), Werner Kollin (17); Jack Parnett (8), Richard Kalish (16); Leon Randall (1), Ed Jordan (20); Dick Davenport (5), Mike Cervini (13); John Provenzano (7), Dick Clarkin (17); Harold Van Aken (4), Dr. Victor Randel (16); Art Ellis (9); Gerald Overbach (12); George Cosenza (4); Al Mazzotta (20); Harry DeFever (12); Phil Battaglia (13); Joe Dulin (11); Arthur Davis Jr. (14); Harvey Bostic (11); Ralph Stewart (17); Don DeKoske (10); Dr. Saul Goldfarb (16); Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr. (9); Sam Levine (14); Ron Marks (4); Bruce Davis (13); James Mau (5); Bob Simek (22); Herbert Gertner (9); Bob Swithers (22); Robert H. Daley (5); Fred Weber (16).

Auburn Mets Trip Binghamton, 6-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took twice the number of hits and more errors but the Auburn Mets managed a 6-5 victory Thursday night over the Binghamton Triplets in the Class A New York-Pennsylvania Baseball League.

The Mets belted 12 hits and committed three errors before Triplets, who scored five runs on six hits and had only two miscues.

And even with all that effort, the Mets' three-run lead was whittled to a one-run victory margin in the bottom of the ninth on a two-run homer by Bill Murphy.

In other league action, the Jamestown Tigers clipped visiting Wellsville 6-3.

Chance Is Walloped By Nats

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Did somebody ask what was wrong with Dean Chance?

It's obvious. Just a serious case of outs. He can't seem to get many.

Chance, the Cy Young Award winner last season, continued his 1965 slide Thursday, absorbing his worst pummeling in two seasons as Washington battered Los Angeles 9-6.

It was the fourth straight loss for Chance in just over two weeks and left the Angel swiftly with an inflated 4.72 earned-run average.

The only thing swift about Chance against the Senators was the time it took Washington to knock him out. The Senators assaulted him for seven runs and eight hits in 2 2/3 innings.

You have to go back to May 12, 1963, for a similar assault on Chance. That day he gave up five runs in 11-3 innings against the White Sox.

Chance, who said he was worried about dropping his third straight last week, must be terrified today following his nightmarish encounter with the Senators.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston dropped Minnesota out of first place, blanking the Twins 2-0 and Detroit tagged New York 4-1.

Pittsburgh's game at Philadelphia was postponed by rain in the National League and Kansas City's visit to Baltimore was rained out in the AL.

Chance has given 32 earned runs in his 11 appearances and has barely resembled the 20-9 pitcher he was a year ago. Dean started with three straight victories but has failed to win in his last five starts.

Howard Blasts Homer

A two-run triple by relief pitcher Marshall Bridges knocked Chance out in the third as the Senators exploded for six runs. Guy Cunningham and Frank Howard homered for Washington with Howard's shot landing off the mezzanine 460 feet from home plate in D.C. Stadium.

Whitey Ford, who had shut out the Senators for New York in his last start, quit after just one inning against the Tigers, saying simply that "he didn't have it."

Ford didn't have it. Detroit's Joe Spina sure did. The young right-hander drove in two runs with a double and limited the Yankees to five hits with Roger Maris' two-out homer in the ninth spoiling the shutout bid.

The Twins, who had eight homers and two victories in their first two games against the Red Sox in Fenway Park, ran into Dave Mearns. The youngest limited the heavy-hitting Twins to three hits until the ninth inning but got into a jam by loading the bases on three walks after striking out Harmon Killebrew to open the inning.

Dick Radatz, ineffective in relief so far this season, lumbered out of the Boston bullpen and ended the threat by fanning pinch-hitters Don Mincher and Sandy Valdespino.

Twin Double at Big M Is $1246

MONTICELLO — Tonight's Twin Double at Monticello Raceway saw the 2-4-3-3 combination return $1,246.80. Norman Dauplaise won the anchor leg of the Twin when he took the eighth behind Grand Darnley in 2:05.1.

Other "Twin" winners were Good Time Henry in the fifth, Caisson Corporal in the sixth and Guy Adois in the seventh. George Sziklai, one of the leaders at Monticello this season, had the winning rides behind Good Time Henry and Guy Adois.

A crowd of 3,547 wagered $287,960.

Clint Hodgins, long acknowledged as one of harness racing's truly great drivers, proved tonight why he is held in such high esteem. Hodgins, a 57-year-old veteran, who has won practically every major event in the sport, drove Lou and Mildred Resnick's Medalist to a decisive triumph in tonight's featured fourth race.

The feature was a $2,500 invitational trot and Hodgins, a cool customer if there ever was one, played the waiting game in posting the triumph. The master was content to let Argo Can, Specter and Miss Barry Prom knock heads in setting the early pace.

In negotiating the mile route in 2:07.1 over a track slightly deadened by pelting rain in the afternoon, Medalist paid $4,70, 3.10 and 2.30 across the board.

Last night's Daily Double returned $56.80 when Gerry Bostic won the first with Worthy Sis and Marcel Dostie did likewise in the second behind Adrien Mir.

Mrs. Rusk Wins

Mrs. Inger Rusk, representing the Kingston Trust Company, was first-prize winner in the golf tournament which was part of the convention program of Group VI, New York State Bankers' Association. About 1,000 bankers attended the session, held at the Concord Hotel on Wednesday. Mrs. Rusk is the wife of George Rusk, president of Kingston Trust Company.

Uruguay is the smallest of the South American republics.

NFA Is Favored In Track Meet

Newburgh Free Academy is favored to win honors in the annual DUSO track meet, scheduled Saturday, 1 p. m. in Middletown.

The Goldbacks figure to receive their strongest challenges from Port Jervis, the DUSO Village champion and Kingston, whose only loss this year in a dual meet was to Newburgh.

Ed Faller, athletic director of Middletown High school, is meet chairman.

Until Jackie Robinson joined the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947, Harold (Pee Wee) Reese of Louisville, Ky., had never shaken hands with a colored man.

Then one afternoon there was a scuffle at second base and Robinson, a lonely figure, needed support. Pee Wee Reese came over and front of all the people put his arms around Jackie's shoulders. And right there the white man had accepted the fact of the Negro ball player.

"Funny thing," says Pee Wee, "I've gotten a lot of credit. But I don't remember the incident or putting my arms around him at all."

He does remember kidding Jackie, at the height of the abuse being poured on the first Negro ball player in big league history. "Stay away from me, man. You're dangerous."

This was when Jackie received threatening letter in southern fringe cities where the Dodgers played. They were on opposite sides of second base taking infield practice, and Robinson was in his two-year incubation period of "turn-the-other-cheek."

"No other man but Robinson could have done it," says Reese.

He also remembers when Jackie emerged from his shell one day in Tampa, Fla. Ben Chapman was coaching at third base for the Cincinnati Reds. Chapman had been the manager at Philadelphia when Robinson broke in, and the Phillies had been the most abusive of all teams on the color question.

This day at Tampa, Robinson was nursing a sore hand during infield drill, and Chapman chided him about taking it easy on the "tootsie-tootsie" hand. And after a while, Robinson walked straight across Reese's position at shortstop and up to Chapman. He said, "I've taken all I'm going to take from you. You say one more word, and we're going to have it out under the stands."

"Jackie," remembers Reese, "was a guy who could take care of himself. He'd get up to the plate when Sal Maglie was pitching against us and say, 'All right, Sal, try to hit me. You can't do it.'"

The Barber, as he was known, was a vicious competitor who'd low-bridge his grandmother. And Reese shudders, "I'd never tell him that, but Jackie did and got away with it."

"One day in St. Louis in the middle of a game he started jawing with a fan who got on him pretty good. Don Newcombe, in the dugout, finally said to him, 'Aw, c'mon, this is the fifth inning and we got a ball game to play. What're you paying attention to him for?'"

"And Jackie jumped all over Big Newk."

Reese was the shortstop and captain of the Dodgers for 16 years. Today he looks the same. Maybe the lines are deeper around his mouth, but he is four pounds under his playing weight of 178 when he quit. He works as a telecaster on the game of the Week as it's played by the New York Yankees. It's the best deal Pee Wee ever had in baseball.

"I'm making twice as much money," he admits, "as when I played, and my golf handicap is a lot lower."

He also has a syndicated radio show, bowling alleys and other business interests in Louisville, his home town. Does he miss being in flannels?

"Hell, no. I never had it so good."

Reese is 46 going on 47, and the memories are warm. "You don't know," he jabbed a finger in my chest, "but when I quit, I hit more home runs at the time than any shortstop in National League history—126."

The record, of course, was later beaten by Ernie Banks of the Cubs, who now plays first base for Chicago.

"I told Ernie," grins Pee Wee, "that he made one big mistake in his career—when he didn't break in as a first baseman."

City League Slates Opening For June 5

Action in the revamped City Baseball league will get underway on Saturday, June 5 at 5 p. m.—with a doubleheader on tap. In the opener, Herzog's Construction Co., last year's champions, will oppose S and E Inc. Port Ewen Merchants will meet Elmer's Inn at 7:30.

Prior to the first game, trophies for the 1964 season will be awarded to Kingston Merchants as league champions, Chick Boice of S and E Inc. as most valuable player and Len Whitten of Kingston Merchants as batting champion.

Teams and managers for the coming season are Herzog's Construction, Len Whitten; S and E Inc., Richard Bell; Port Ewen Merchants, Richard Terpening; Elmer's Inn, Carl Stoutenburg; Valley All-Stars, Tony Valle; Lou's Red Amato and Montgomery Wards, Bill DuBois.

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston may square off again — on Capitol Hill.

The senior Republican on the potent House Interstate Commerce Committee, Rep. William L. Springer of Illinois, says he can't see how "you can get around calling Liston and Clay" to testify when the committee holds hearings on chairman Oren Harris' bill to create a federal boxing commission.

Harris has promised quick hearings on the bill. It would include authority to forbid accounts of a fight to be carried in interstate commerce — by wire services, radio or television — if the commission found any evidence of collusion, bribery, racketeering or terrorism.

Harris' bill was thrown into the hopper against a backdrop of widespread congressional criticism of heavyweight champion Clay's one-round knockout of Liston Tuesday night in Lewiston, Maine.

In recent years, there have been many calls on Capitol Hill to do something about boxing.

Schofield Hits Hard For Giants

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
 Shortstop Dick Schofield, the newest member of the Giants, was telling about shopping for a place to live in San Francisco.

"A lady showed me a place and she wanted $700 a month," he said.

"She must think I'm Willie Mays."

Maybe the lady was doing him a favor. Mays is hitting .368. But Schofield is hitting .389 for the Giants.

Schofield, who wound up with San Francisco in a shortstop swap that sent Jose Pagan to Pittsburgh, hit safely in his fifth consecutive game for the Giants Thursday, driving in three runs with a double and a single in a 9-2 victory over Cincinnati.

The 30-year-old switch hitter now has stroked seven hits, including three doubles, in 18 at-bats for the Giants. Pagan, who was hitting .205 when he was traded, has yet to play for the Pirates.

Elsewhere in the National League, the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers edged Milwaukee 2-1, Houston whipped St. Louis 6-1 and the New York Mets outlasted the Chicago Cubs 8-5. The Pittsburgh-Philadelphia game was rained out.

Schofield started his performance when he drew a walk in the third inning and scored on singles by Jesus Alou and Willie McCovey, putting the Giants ahead to stay 2-1. He then slapped a two-run single in a three-run fourth-inning uprising and ended the scoring with a run-producing double in the eighth.

The Dodgers won it in the ninth as Willie Davis singled, moved to third on an intentional walk and Jim Lefebvre's infield hit and scored when Denny Lemaster issued a walk to pinch-hitter Al Ferrara.

Lemaster, now 2-5, locked in a pitching duel with Johnny Podres, 3-0, took a four-hitter into the ninth.

The Astros put it out of reach against the Cardinals in the first two innings, scoring three runs with only two hits off Ray Washburn.

Dick Groat's throwing error on an attempted inning-ending doubleplay in the second inning let in two runs after Houston had scored in the first when Eddie Kasko doubled and came around on an infield out and Lee Maye's sacrifice fly.

Jim Wynn hit his eighth homer for the Astros while Dick Farrell brought his record to 4-1 by scattering seven hits.

Ed Kranepool, Johnny Lewis and Ron Swoboda drove in seven of the Mets' eight runs against the Cubs.

Lewis doubled and Kranepool hit a sacrifice fly in a two-run first. Kranepool slapped a two-run double as the Mets made it 5-0 in the second inning and Swoboda stroked a two-run single that upped the bulge to 7-0 in the fourth.

Villanova Favored In Outdoor Track

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Villanova's powerful Wildcats and Maryland's Atlantic Coast Conference champions are expected to stage a repeat of their wintertime struggle in the 89th annual ICA outdoor track & field championships.

The indoor games last March went down to the final event before Villanova squeaked through by 2 1/2 points. The Wildcats of Jumbo Jim Elliott are slim favorites to do it again and capture their sixth straight outdoor title and eighth in nine years. They have won seven of the last nine indoor championships, the last four in a row.

Ask Bonus To Retain Skillful Reenlistments Aim of Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is proposing a special bonus to lure men with critical skills into reenlisting in the armed services.

The bonus system, recommended to Congress in a little-noticed section of a pay-increase bill, could give some corporals and specialists as much as $6,300, depending on the importance of their skills.

Two years ago, Congress ignored a similar Defense Department proposal.

Difficultly Mounts
However, top officials hope the Senate and House will be more receptive this time because of the increasing difficulty in holding trained men.

The plight of the Navy was pointed out several weeks ago when Secretary Paul H. Nitze appealed to officers and men whose active-duty tours were running out to extend their service three or six months. Navy officials said it is too early to measure the response to Nitze's plea.

Pay Major Factor
Defense Department studies have listed inadequate pay as a major factor in the inability to keep men trained in electronics and other important skills.

The Defense Department already has a re-enlistment bonus system in effect. The new special system aimed at the highly skilled would be superimposed on it.

Under the standard system, a man completing his first enlistment and signing up for another hitch is entitled to one month's pay multiplied by the number of years of re-enlistment.

Size of Bonus
Thus, a man who signed up for an additional six-year hitch would get a bonus of six months' pay.

On later enlistments, the bonus would be smaller. An absolute limit of $2,000 is applied to such standard bonuses over a 20-year career.

The new proposal would apply only to the first re-enlistment. It would authorize a bonus four times the standard re-enlistment bonus, in addition to the regular bonus.

In this case, a man with an important skill would get a payment equal to five months pay multiplied by the number of years of his new enlistment — a maximum of 30 extra months' pay.

Two Burglaries Under Probe

A burglary at the Kingston City Library, 399 Broadway, and theft of a cooler from the Binnewater Lake Ice Co., 25 South Pine Street, were under police probe today.

Nothing of value was reported missing from the library, which had been entered twice earlier this year. Money was reported missing after the other burglaries, but nothing of value was reported missing in the one reported this morning. Entrance was gained by the breaking of a small rear window. A teenager was charged with the earlier burglaries.

The ice company burglary was reported early Thursday afternoon. The cooler, valued at $30 was reported taken from a loading platform.

Another report Thursday afternoon noted that a rock had been thrown through the windshield of the car of Mrs. Ralph Brandt, of 6 Devo Street.

Police were notified Thursday night that a large cast iron urn is missing from the older section of Wiltwyck Cemetery. The report was by Alden C. Hunt Jr., of 228 Lindorf Street, Port Ewen.

Passes Resolutions

The Poughkeepsie City Council passed two resolutions in a special meeting Thursday in that city. By a vote of 7-1, the council authorized City Manager Maurer to enter into a contract with the Advance Waste Material Handling Co. Inc. of New Rochelle, for the disposal of refuse. The city's current contract expires Saturday and it is necessary that another land fill site be obtained. The city has been negotiating with other areas for a site. The New Rochelle company was awarded the bid last Wednesday. In the other action, the council passed a resolution requesting the Parking Authority to adopt home rule as authorized by state legislation.

Truck Driver Hurt

A Kingston truck driver was injured in a freak accident Thursday on the Hurley Mountain Road near Route 28. State Police at Lake Katrine substation said that Michael Evans, 40, of 14 Ravine Street, was in a truck while a cargo of lime was being unloaded in the trailer unit of his tractor trailer combination. They said that the load shifted causing the truck to roll over, throwing Evans out. He was taken to Kingston Hospital where he was treated for abrasions and released.

Faulty Incinerator

Faulty operation of an incinerator in the basement of the Rondout National Bank, 635 Broadway, caused dense smoke in areas, but no fire damage. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Excelsior and Wiltwyck volunteers answered a call at 10:02 a. m. with Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief Robert W. Hardwick in charge. The building, which houses the Prudential Insurance Company on the second floor was ventilated.

Resnick Reports IBM Will Get $5.6 (M) Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Supply Agency has awarded a $5.6 million contract to International Business Machine Corp. for data systems for the Army.

Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., said today that under the contract IBM will furnish equipment required for mechanization of warehousing and shipping processing. The systems will be built at IBM plants in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and San Jose, Calif.

Heitzman Seeks Party Support For Mayor's Job

John P. Heitzman, of 33 Browning Terrace, former 12th Ward alderman, and the only Democrat to announce candidacy for the office of mayor, Thursday night sought support of the City Democratic Committee.

A large amount of recently announced state aid money, Heitzman held, in his talk before the committee, should be used to reduce real estate taxes. This should be done, he felt, even though he agreed with others that some should be used for requested salary increases.

In referring to the past three and a half years of Republican control in City Hall, he termed them "Schwenk years," and years of "utter chaos."

Heitzman praised the efforts of Democratic members of the Common Council in attempting to "separate fact from fiction" when they attempted to gain an investigation of reports of irregularities when the fire board dealt with proposed career plans for firemen.

Mayor John J. Schwenk, noting that he was entitled to act on the motion which called for the investigation scheduled for May 15, because it involved an expenditure of money, vetoed it. He held that the request for the probe was politically motivated.

Heitzman served as 12th Ward alderman during the administration of former Mayor Edwin F. Radel. He was the first Democrat to be elected in the ward in many years.

Driver Is Cited For Parking on Railroad Tracks

A driver involved in a car-train mishap at the Gage Street railroad crossing was cited for parking the vehicle on West Shore Railroad tracks and another was charged with a stop-sign violation after a two-car collision at Hurley Avenue and Taylor Street Thursday afternoon.

Roger Edgley, 33, of Philmont, driver of a trailer truck owned by Harder's Express, Claverack, was charged with parking on tracks after the vehicle was struck by a West Shore freight train at 4:29 p. m. City court hearing is scheduled for Saturday.

Michael Bellow, of 7502 137th Street, Flushing, was listed as the train's engineer, and J. C. Rhea, of 99 West Madison Street, Dumont, N. J., as the conductor. A crossing gate was damaged.

Officers Anthony Turck and Patrick Colbert investigated.

Charles Tucker, 68, of 473 Wilbur Avenue, a taxi driver, was charged with a stop-sign violation. He drove a cab owned by the Economy Cab Company. The other car was driven by George F. Karabimos, of 4 Coffey Place. Officer Meyer Levy investigated. Tucker is due in city court Saturday.

A bus of the Mountain View Coach Lines Inc. became stalled at 9:32 a. m. today when a rear wheel became mired in the soft earth of a recently covered excavation in front of Kingston Hospital. It was pulled out by a wrecker from Raftery's Garage Inc., 183 Foxhall Avenue. The bus driver was David Conklin of Port Ewen.

Mows Lawn in Snow

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The temperature was dipping into the 30s when Loel Henry started to mow a neighbor's lawn Thursday. Dressed in a parka and earmuffs, the boy finished the job in light snow, that quickly melted.

Butter Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—USDA—Butter offerings ample. Demand fair. Prices unchanged. Cheese steady. Prices unchanged.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market made a recovery in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Gains of fractions to about a point prevailed among many key stocks but there was also a liberal assortment of losers.

The list was mixed in early trading and began to move ahead cautiously later in the morning.

Caution prevailed because of the Memorial Day weekend. The market will be closed Monday.

Autos, unchanged at the start, were ahead on balance. Steels, airlines, oils, electrical equipments, building materials and office equipments were mostly higher.

The business news background was regarded as mixed. It included word of another loss in U.S. gold holdings and a decline in business loans at a major New York City banks. A rise in construction awards and in consumer prices also was reported.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 2.96 at noon to 916.18.

General Motors gained a full point, IBM rose 6, Xerox nearly 3 and Polaroid (ex-dividend) about 2.

Pfizer lost ½ at 56 on a block of 28,500 shares.

Prices were higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Quotations by Wood, Walker & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 63 Wall Street, New York City, branch office, 55 Main Street, Lowell S. Brooks manager.

BAILEY SCHOOL ARTS—A special display arranged by the art, home economics and industrial arts departments at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School is currently on exhibit at the auxiliary gymnasium of the school. Featured in the art department display are two and three dimensional works in all media including watercolor, tempera, paper and ceramics. Table settings, centerpieces and kitchen models are displayed by the home economics department. The industrial arts exhibit shows projects completed during the year, such as table lamps, ceramics, and metal work in jewelry as well as electronic equipment used in the course. Arrangements were under the direction of Mrs. Karen Aspromonte, John Russell and James Kaman of the art department; Mrs. Charlotte Hunt and Mrs. Susan LeBlanc of home economics and Robert Stinemire and Robert Jones of the industrial arts department. The display will continue through next Wednesday. Visitors wishing to attend may report to the school office and they will be escorted to the gym. (Freeman photo by Wagenföhr)

Sillin Planning Hudson Talk on Regional Group

The regional planning, research and development effort being launched in the Mid-Hudson Valley will be discussed in Hudson on June 7 by Lelan F. Sillin Jr., president of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Greater Hudson, Columbia County and Roe Jan Chambers of Commerce and the Columbia County Board of Realtors. The meeting will be attended by representatives of business, industry, education, government, and civic, fraternal, and professional organizations.

Alexander Aldrich, executive assistant to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and a resident of Chatham, will serve as master of ceremonies. Mayor Samuel Wheeler of Hudson will welcome the guests at the after-dinner meeting, which will be held in the auditorium of the J. L. Edwards Elementary School at 8 p.m.

Sillin will review the events leading to the formation of Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, Inc., the official organization responsible for a balanced program of planning and development in the seven-county region located generally between the Albany Capital District to the north and the New York metropolitan area to the south.

The utility executive will discuss projected growth for the seven-county region and outline some of the regional problems and opportunities that can be met effectively on a regional basis. Sillin also will review the support and encouragement given to the regional planning effort and its objectives and offer a progress report on the establishment of Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, Inc.

Central Hudson was a co-sponsor with the State University College at New Paltz of the Pattern-for-Progress Conference on regional planning in December. Subsequently, Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, Inc. was formed and Sillin was named one of six incorporators and interim directors of the regional planning organization.

Township Data

value to other local government agencies concerned with highways, water supply and drainage, planning and zoning, utilities and innumerable others. Prints of the maps are sold to private interests such as real estate firms, shopping centers and many others.

Copies of the map would be available in sections and could be sold by the county at a few dollars per section. Assessors or officials of an individual township would be able to secure copies of the section including their town.

Supervisors Attended

This part of the meeting was attended by various local planning board members and town supervisors.

It was further reported that on the recommendation of the Board of Supervisors, the County Planning Board has applied to the State Department of Health for a comprehensive study and report of water resources. This, if approved by the State Water Resources Commission, will be conducted by a local engineering firm at no cost to the county.

The appointment of Richard T. Ehler as county planning director effective July 1, was announced. Ehler was appointed by the Board of Supervisors on May 13 on the recommendation of the County Planning Board. Ehler is currently associate planner for the Stark County Planning Board of Canton, Ohio.

Other business included announcing the appointment of Messrs. P. McDonald, T. Polizzi and R. Robertello to the planning board. These are to fill vacancies due to resignations. Their terms expire in November 1967.

The next meeting of the executive committee of the Ulster County Planning Board will be held Monday evening, June 28. It is expected this meeting will be held in the board's new offices in the County Office Building.

Kicked by Horse

An area hotel employee, who was kicked by a horse this morning near the hotel, was reported in critical condition this afternoon at Kingston Hospital. Cornelius J. Sullivan, 45, of Lake Minnewaska, reportedly suffered severe head and face injuries. Details of the accident were unavailable from state police who were still investigating this afternoon, but it was reported that Sullivan was taken to the hospital by a hotel station wagon.

LBJ Calls for . . .

help and a deeper cause." The President associated the "deeper cause" with areas where the poor and the oppressed find difficulty entering the gates of opportunity.

In this situation, he said, the United States must try to "narrow the gap between the rich nations and the poor — and between the rich people and the poor within each nation."

In urging new international machinery, Johnson gave no details of what he had in mind.

However, it was believed he felt that the multination force now trying to keep peace and promote stability in the Dominican Republic might serve as a precedent for inter-American efforts if other nations face similar upheavals.

Johnson emphasized that "for the first time in history the Organization of American States has created and sent to the soil of an American nation an international peace-keeping force."

He said "that may be the greatest achievement of all."

Johnson reported that "the broad outlines of a reasonable settlement are beginning to emerge" in the Dominican Republic. He said these outlines meet the needs and desires of the Dominican people and the entire hemisphere.

In detailing these items, Johnson said that first of all, "the Dominican people — and the people of their sister republics — do not want government by extremists of either the left or the right."

Want Food, Work

He said everyone also seeks "an end to slaughter in the streets," food and work and peaceful nights, a constitutional government and, for the Dominicans, the chance to shape their own course with help from "sympathetic neighbors in healing their wounds and negotiating their divisions."

The President flew to his native Texas Thursday night for his first weekend visit in six weeks. Before flying to Waco and the university, Johnson arranged to participate in the unveiling of a full-length presidential portrait in the Texas Senate chamber at Austin.

In remarks prepared for that occasion, Johnson recalled that his father, Sam Ealy Johnson, served for 12 years as a member of the Texas Legislature early in the century.

"Here at my father's side," he said, "I was first exposed to the strength, the vitality and the enduring value of our system of representative democracy."

The President expressed the belief that this system, both politically and economically, "is succeeding as never before."

Senate in Recess

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, with only three members on hand, held a four-second session today and then began a Memorial-Day holiday recess.

The quickie meeting, with all business banned, was necessary to comply with a requirement that neither house of Congress recess for more than three days without consent of the other.

Answer Three Alarms

Walkill volunteer firefighters responded to three alarms Thursday in that area. They battled a brush fire, electrical b and dump fire, Mutual Aid dispatchers at the Ulster County Fire Control also reported a brush fire in the Olive district.

Wallace's to Put Shopping Center In Dutchess Area

Announcement was made today by officials of Forbes & Wallace, Inc., of Springfield, Mass., that it has acquired control of 87 acres of land for the development of a shopping center in the Poughkeepsie area. Andrew B. Wallace III, president, stated the expansion of Wallace's in Poughkeepsie was made necessary in order to keep pace with the rapid growth in the area.

Control of 87 acres of land has been acquired on the north-west side of the intersection of New York Route 9 and 9D with Vassar Road, main north and south arteries, located in the township of Poughkeepsie. Fifty acres of the 87 acre site have been leased from 820 South Road Corp., and the remaining 37 acres are under an option to purchase granted by Stephen Butsko. The proposed plan calls for the development of a complete shopping center, composed of a large new store unit for Wallace's, a large store for a nationally known retail store tenant, and a full complement of specialty and service shops.

It is expected to have the center ready to open in 1968. The new Wallace's will be operated in conjunction with the present Wallace's in the downtown shopping district of Poughkeepsie.

Wallace's in Kingston is a 50,000 square foot store, and was opened in August of 1962. In the past three years business has increased in both the Kingston store and the downtown Poughkeepsie store, indicating the need for additional facilities.

Wallace's plans for the new shopping center do not alter the company's announced intent to provide for a new Wallace's in downtown Poughkeepsie as a part of a well-planned urban renewal program.

Wallace's in Poughkeepsie was purchased by the founder of Forbes & Wallace in 1966 and has been in continuous operation since that time. In addition to Wallace's in Poughkeepsie, there are two other Wallace's in New York State; Wallace's in Kingston, which is a branch of Wallace's Poughkeepsie store, and Wallace's, in Schenectady which is operated as an independent store unit. Forbes & Wallace, Inc., operates four stores in Massachusetts; Forbes & Wallace parent store in Springfield, McCauslan Wakelin in Holyoke, McCauslan's in Northampton, and The Boston Store in North Adams.

Hit Radar Sites

Twelve U.S. Thunderchiefs hit the Hon Nieu and Hon Matt radar sites, located about 10 miles offshore 130 miles north of the border, with over 30 tons of 750-pound bombs.

A spokesman said heavy damage was inflicted to both sites, but that smoke and fires in the area prevented further damage assessments.

Attacking with mortars and recoilless rifles, Viet Cong forces overran a government outpost 15 miles southwest of Saigon, killed 24 regional force troops and wounded 12.

U.S. military spokesmen said an unknown number of regional troops also were missing following the attack on the outpost at Mea Thanh Ha. One Viet Cong was reported killed.

Report 40 Cong Killed
Forty Viet Cong were reportedly killed and 15 captured in a search sweep in Phong Dinh Province 95 miles southwest of Saigon. The operation continued today. Government casualties were 10 Vietnamese killed, 39 wounded and 2 U.S. Army advisers wounded slightly.

A Viet Cong battalion hit government positions in at least six places 45 miles south of Da Nang today. Military sources said it could be an attempt to split the Vietnamese army's 1st Corps.

ARE BROWN EGGS RICHER THAN WHITE EGGS? Many people believe that brown eggs are richer and more nutritious than white ones and this popular belief is an important factor in the commercial distribution of eggs. Some years ago a survey made by American poultrymen showed that light-colored eggs were generally preferred by the public in New York City and dark-colored ones in Boston. There is, however, no good reason for supposing that the richness of an egg is related to the color of its shell. Analysis shows that eggs are virtually the same in chemical composition regardless of the color of the shell and that there is no appreciable difference in the food or nutrient content of light-colored and dark-colored eggs.

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than legal minimum wages or pay different treatment based on sex. Most employees engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week.
Beginning September 3, 1964, most employees in certain large retail service, construction and other enterprises engaged in the production of goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week. The Act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women if you are covered by the act. If you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Department of Labor, Washington office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx,
N. Y. 10452. W. Vandort 2-1235.

Appeals Upholds Literacy Tests In English Only

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state constitution's provision that literacy tests for voter registration be given only in English has been upheld by the Court of Appeals.

The 4-3 decision Thursday came about 24 hours after the U.S. Senate passed a voter registration bill that includes a provision that would allow Puerto Ricans to waive a literacy test for voting if they could provide proof of grammar school education in Puerto Rico.

The state's highest court issued no majority opinion in upholding an appellate division ruling. The case was initiated by Martha Cardona of New York City, a native of Puerto Rico, who wanted to take the test in Spanish.

Other Decisions In other decisions, the Court of Appeals:

— Upheld unanimously two plans implemented by the Rochester and New York City boards of education as steps toward eliminating racial imbalance in their respective public schools.

— Reversed an appellate division ruling and held that New York State courts had no jurisdiction in a suit against an out-of-state manufacturer in connection with a 1962 propane gas explosion in Rensselaer County that took 10 lives.

— Although there was no majority opinion in backing the state's English literacy test for voters, the dissenting justices said it was "unreasonable and unconstitutionally discriminatory" to refuse the request to allow Spanish to be used.

The minority opinion was written by Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond with associate judges Stanley Fuld and Adrienne Burke concurring.

Voting in the majority were associate judges Marvin R. Dye, John Van Voorhis, Francis Bergan and John F. Scileppi.

Notes Challenges The appellate division had held that the English-language requirement has successfully withstood several court challenges and "there is no valid ground offered to justify a departure from previous rulings."

The case involving court jurisdiction, the high court voted 6-1 to reverse the appellate division ruling that state courts could hear a suit against the Darby Corp. of Kansas City, Kan.

The firm manufactured the tank found by the Interstate Commerce Commission to be defective, for a truck involved in the explosion in July 1962 in the hamlet of Berlin, east of Troy.

In an opinion, written by Associate Judge Stanley Fuld, the court said that the New York Court of Appeals had jurisdiction only if the company had committed a negligent act in New York State. The tank was manufactured in Kansas City.

Sept. 17 commemorates adoption of the Constitution of the United States in 1787.

LEGAL NOTICES INVITATION TO BIDDERS

Switch in Colors Study Green Light As Possible Way To Cut Auto Toll

By RUSSELL LANE CHICAGO (AP) — As the approaching Memorial Day weekend signals the start of vacation touring, some traffic safety researchers are studying the green light as a possible device to cut the highway death toll.

The proposal is a simple, but radical switch of color in auto and truck tail lights — from red to green. The red lights would not be taken away, but they would flare only when the car ahead was braking or about to turn.

The government and auto makers have shown interest in the idea. They are watching experiments in progress at Indiana University by the motorist's night vision research project.

"The green tail lights — we call them position lights — appear to give the motorist a much better awareness of the car ahead than red lights of the same intensity," says Dr. Merrill J. Allen, director of the project.

Allen, professor of optometry at the Bloomington, Ind., institution, is one of the safety researchers who believes that the driver sees, or believes he sees, may be close in importance to the speed factor.

With 48,000 traffic deaths last year — more than 130 every day — it is difficult to realize that driving is actually safer than it used to be, in terms of the number of miles traveled between fatal accidents.

However, the fact remains that in 1925, when there were only about 20 million cars in the country, the annual motor vehicle death toll was about 21,000.

The 48,000 toll last year came with more than 85 million vehicles rolling up well over 800 billion miles. The annual total of vehicle miles has jumped by more than 80 billion since 1960, partly because of the development of high speed turnpikes.

Turnpikes were expected to make driving safer — and statistics indicate that they have. The National Safety Council estimates that last year's accident death rate on the rural roads of all classes was 7.6 per 100 million miles of vehicle travel. The death rate on turnpikes was 2.5 — one-third as high. Both were up slightly from the year before.

Increased use of the high-speed interstate route has cut the death rate on older highways, the council says, from 9.7 per 100 million miles to 5.1, principally because there's less driving pressure on them now.

But the 2.5 per 100 million miles death rate on supposedly safe routes has safety engineers uncomfortable.

The Pork-Barrel Editor, The Freeman

I wonder why Congressman Resnick doesn't go the whole way and try to get our Congressional District denoted as part of the "Appalachian poverty area"? Such an effort would be the logical conclusion of his campaign promise to get more out of Washington for our area and would be in keeping with the poverty of his ideas.

Pork-barrel is such a wonderfully simple idea, really—until the citizen discovers who pays for the pork. Guess who?—the ordinary, average taxpayer.

Can we afford a Mr. Resnick in Washington, a Mr. Rockefeller in Albany? There seems no end in sight to the long-run upward trend of income taxes, social-security payroll taxes, sales taxes for inferior "services"; the vast majority of individuals can purchase these services more economically for themselves, minus the red-tape. If government—federal and state—eventually provides housing, medical care, retirement funds, recreation, food, transportation, etc., we "free American citizens" will have only pocket money to spend as we see fit. And who, by definition, has only pocket money? Children. But, unlike children, we will all be wards of the state, not of parents.

Must Hold Hearing ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Public Service Commission has ruled that a public hearing must be held on a plan by Iroquois Telephone Co. to raise its rates by $173,260.

No date was set for the hearing, however.

The commission said Thursday that it had received several complaints against the planned increases. Iroquois, formed last year through the merger of several small companies, serves 13,000 customers in central and western New York.

First 20 Negroes to be landed on American soil disembarked at Jamestown, Va., in August of 1619.

RFK to Attend Rites FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., will attend the formal dedication of the John F. Kennedy Special Warfare Center at Ft. Bragg Saturday.

The center, which trains men in counterinsurgency, is named for the late president, the senator's brother. President Kennedy took a special interest in the installation and helped in its rapid growth.

Speaker, Awards, Election Feature Dinner Meeting

Seventy-five persons heard Dr. Irvin Klein, medical director of Workmen's Compensation Board, New York City, speak on the subject Employability and Heart Disease at the second annual dinner meeting of the Ulster County Heart Association Wednesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Election of new directors and awarding of certificates to volunteer workers and other individuals and organizations also highlighted the meeting.

"Platitudes concerning cardiovascular disease are malignant," said Dr. Klein. "Everyone involved in the Heart Cause must understand them and know how to counteract them."

Excellent Employment Risk One of the platitudes is the tendency on the part of the family and some professionals to make a cardiac invalid out of the patient.

He pointed out that cardiacs are an excellent employment risk. Surveys conducted on this subject confirms the fact that the absentee rate is low.

The heart patient can be a "taxpayer" instead of a "tax-receiver." Dr. Klein said there was no reason why the individual with heart disease has to sit at home and vegetate.

He emphasized that the individual's physical abilities must be evaluated before employment and that there existed many facilities to do this, such as Work Evaluation Units, the purpose of which is to study a job and to match the individual's abilities to the job. This is called selective-placement. It is essential for the heart patient to do just what has been assigned to him and no more.

Dr. Klein pointed out that very few people know about the "Second Injury Law." He said everyone should know this law particularly the employer as it legally protects him in hiring the handicapped.

He concluded his presentation by saying that the doctor plays a major role in the patient's welfare. He can lead the patient and the family on the right track. He should be positive, certain and keep the patient in the area of employability even during convalescence.

Dewese W. DeWitt, association president, presided. Guest vocalist was Cheryl Thomas, accompanied by Mrs. Arthur T. Pedersen.

DeWitt pointed out that not only was the association observing its second dinner meeting but also, the 16th anniversary of the American Heart Association.

Certificates Awarded Dr. Jeremiah Sachs, chairman of the annual meeting planning committee in presenting awards expressed sincere thanks and deep appreciation to the many volunteers for their dedication to service to and interest in the program of the Ulster County Heart Association. He said that the association's successful program and Heart Fund campaign would not be possible without their able assistance.

Certificates of Appreciation were awarded to the Township Heart Fund Chairman, who were present: Mrs. William Brinnier, Saugerties; Mrs. James Crowell III, Wallkill; Mrs. Thomas Bell

Declares Emergency

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)—Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs declared a state of emergency today in the remote area where nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo and hundreds of his African supporters are confined.

The government said Premier Ian Smith's white supremacist government had information that certain persons were threatening to endanger public safety.

Forecast Given Through June 2

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Extended forecasts, as prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Saturday through Wednesday.

Northeastern New York—The temperatures will average between 2 and 6 degrees below the season normal. Seasonable temperatures Saturday and Sunday will be followed by cooler weather Monday through Wednesday. Normals for the period: Utica, 63; Massena, 60. Precipitation during this period will total on the average between two-tenths and one-half inch occurring in showers Sunday or Monday.

Southeastern New York—Temperatures are expected to average below normal, with daytime highs in the low 70s and overnight lows in the mid to low 50s. Near seasonal during the first half of the period and cooler during the second half. Precipitation may total about one-quarter inch or less, occurring as a few showers during the late weekend and again late in the period.

Western New York—Temperatures will average about five degrees below normal highs of 70 to 73 and lows of 50 to 53. Near normal temperatures on Saturday and Sunday and cooler on Monday and Tuesday. Rainfall will total one-fifth to one-half inch as showers on Sunday and Wednesday.

Notes Winnie's Stand

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Postmaster General James A. Farley said Thursday the late Sir Winston Churchill told him in 1947 that the Western powers should attack the Russians "with the full atomic arsenal" if the Russians did not get out of Europe.

Farley mentioned the former British prime minister during a defense of President Johnson's Viet Nam policy. He said he believed Churchill would have endorsed Johnson's actions.

Farley, who will be 77 Sunday, spoke at a pre-birthday news conference.

Coast 'Heal In'

Charges Doctors Flooding Hospital As Pay Protest

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A county official says resident physicians and interns at Los Angeles County General Hospital, miffed by a pay raise of less than $10 a month, are flooding the huge facility with patients.

He says the doctors are calling it a "heal in."

County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, who said the protest was described to his office Thursday, called it "a deliberate plan to disrupt good hospital service."

Hahn said the strategy among the 200 interns and 350 physicians was to admit as many patients as possible, and at the same time, retain patients longer than normally would be the case.

Dr. Richard Boggs, president of the intern-resident protest group, declined to discuss the situation with newsmen.

Hospital administrators said there was a 25 per cent increase in admissions Thursday and a 40 per cent drop in discharges. But county officials said steps were being taken by administrative officials to forestall the effort. They termed the campaign "curbed."

Hahn said a delegation from the Interns and Residents Association visited his office and announced that a "heal in" was in progress.

The 3,300-bed facility is one of the largest general hospitals in the nation.

Dr. William Evans, the hospital's medical director, said the protest group promised "that nothing will be done which interferes with the best care available to patients."

The doctors had asked for a flat rate of $400 monthly for interns and a sliding scale for resident physicians rising over a five-year period from $510 to $713 a month.

But under a salary ordinance approved Thursday, interns will get $330 to start and $337 after six months of service — plus room and board. Resident physicians, starting July 1, will receive from $435 to $645 a month.

Six Art Hurt In Two Greene Crashes Thursday

Six persons were injured in two traffic accidents Thursday in the Catskill area.

Injured in a two-car collision about 5:15 p. m. on the Cauterskill Road near Catskill were Irvine Lammpan, 39, of Leeds, who suffered chest injuries and Richard Graff, 17, of Catskill RD 1, right eye bruises.

They were treated in Greene County Memorial Hospital.

State Police at Leeds substation issued Graff a summons for failure to keep right returnable before Peace Justice George Carl, Town of Catskill.

Four others were injured in an earlier one-car accident on the Route 23A Horseshoe Curve in the Town of Hunter.

They included Sanford Garrison, 76, of Tannersville, the driver, who suffered possible right forearm fracture; Hanna Garrison, 63, also of Tannersville, cuts to the scalp, left eye and forearm; Doris Garrison, 60, Tannersville, chest injury; and Minnie McLean, 63, Tannersville, knee cuts and shin sprains.

Largest U.S. state capital, in terms of population, is Boston, Mass.
